ticipated in Wrecking Jerseyville Bank, Cashier of Which Killed Self.Charges of using the mails to defraud his clients and participating in the wrecking of the Jerseyville (Ill.) National Bank were filed today against Charles V. H.
Roberts, stock and bond broker, accused last night. The clients' losses will approximate $300,000.
Federal authorities are informed.
One client, the Jerseyville bank
cashier, killed himself a year ago when his bank failed as a result of his speculations.Roberts, with modest offices in the Federal Commerce Trust Building and living quarters at the Westmoreland Hotel, is said by Stafford Inspectors to have impressed his clients with representations that he had a connection with the international banking firm of Morgan & Co. and participated in large and profitable syndicate operations. As a matter of fact,
according to inspectors, Roberts
had no such connection and merely operated on paper—paying his clients "profits" out of their own money when the market went up, pocketing their "losses" when the market went down.In a short statement made this morning to reporters after he had spent a night in the holdover at Police Headquarters, Roberts declared any fraudulent deals. He declared his clients suffered legiti-mate losses, due to the "market
going against them."Clients and Their Claims.
A partial list of Roberts' clients
and the amount of their claims follows:Robert McLaran, attorney,

eral Commerce Trust Bldg., $20,000.William Bartley, law associate of Mayfield, unspecified amount.Joseph L. Hornsby, attorney, Rialto Bldg., $20,000.Raymond W. Scubbing, attorney, Planters Building, about $10,000.Mrs. Pearl Hyman Nolker
Cleveland, of St. Louis and New York, $30,000.James Bottomley, first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, $10,000.The claims of these clients, excluding Bartley's, total $101,000.
Roberts, it is said, mentioned claims totaling $100,000, but asserted
he would have to consult his attorneys to give a complete list of obligations outstanding against him.Accused of Bank Wrecking.
In a Federal indictment made public at Springfield, Ill., today,
after Roberts had given bond
here, he is charged with assisting Frank D. Heller, cashier of the Jerseyville Bank, in embezzling money from the bank and assisting Heller in the collection of commissions on loans made by the bank at the instance of Heller and Roberts.The Jerseyville Bank closed its doors Jan. 5, 1927, after Heller, cashier for 20 years, killed himself. Investigation showed Heller speculated through Roberts and had loaded the bank with unprofitable loans obtained from Roberts. It is understood a record has been found indicating Roberts lost Heller $20,000 when the bank ended its life.Claims totaling $233,707 were filed against Heller's estate at Jerseyville yesterday by William R.
Bullert of Springfield, the bank attorney. The claims represent amounts due the bank on notes,
stock assessments, director's liability and other indebtedness.Bottomley Makes Charge.
"Sonny Jim" Bottomley, baseball player, is the complaining witness in a warrant issued against Roberts by District Attorney Brewer.
The charge, using the mails to furnish a scheme to defraud, is punishable upon conviction by a maximum of five years' imprisonment or $1000 fine or both.Roberts devised a scheme to defraud "numerous and sundry persons" by representing that he was Made Day Before Death

Miss Leona Schuermann, the former Mrs. Emil Anshanshin, whose body was found in a gas-filled room in her home at 1321
Wellbly place, St. Louis County, made her will the day before her death, it was learned today. Filed for probate in Clayton, the will leaves approximately $25,000 to be divided equally between her two children, the two children and names Anshanshin, Wellston real estate agent whom she divorced five months ago, as executor.Miss Schuermann, who was 27
years old, apparently contemplated killing herself as early as Monday,
for she communicated with her attorney, Joseph A. Falzone, and had him draw up a will. Falzone hailed at naming the former husband executor until Anshanshin had given his consent. The husband told Falzone Tuesday he would serve and Miss Schuermann signed her will hours before her death, she died of asphyxiation.Ten days ago, without explanation, she took the two children—
Emil, 7 years old, and Donald, 5, to their father. She had been in custody of them in the divorce ruling. When her body was found,
the pictures of the children lay on her breast and she held a piece of paper in her hand on which was written, "my husband."MORMON FOUNDER'S GRAVE

The unmarked graves of Joseph

in Carthage, Ill., Jan. 4, 1844, have been found near Nauvoo, Ill.,

two brothers were buried secretly
at the time of their death. Dummies were placed in the coffins

the controversy. The Reorganized

GETS 10 YEARS FOR KILLING HUSBANDStabbed Him to Death Feb.
12, and Confessed to Police but at Trial Repudiated Confession.RECEIVES VERDICT
WITHOUT EMOTIONJury Deliberated Five Hours—Apparently Rejected Testimony of Defendant's Daughter.Mrs. Anna Eason, 31-year-old housewife, was found guilty of second-degree murder and sentenced today to 10 years in prison for killing her husband with a butcher knife.The jury's sealed verdict, reached at 10:30 o'clock last night after five hours' deliberation, was opened by Circuit Judge Roskopf at the forenoon session.The jury discredited the story of the killing Mrs. Eason told in court and accepted the confession
she dictated to police in the Southland Street Station early on the morning of Feb. 13, a few hours after the killing.In her testimony she had repudiated the confession, declaring police obtained it from her by a ruse.Mrs. Eason heard the verdict stolidly. Clara Dietrich, her 13-year-old daughter, by a corner
marriage, was in the courtroom
when the verdict was announced.Daughter's Story Rejected.
The jury, it was learned, did not believe the story told on the stand by the daughter, and rejected later by Mrs. Eason—that Eason had attacked Clara and that his death came in a scuffle after Mrs. Eason had accused him and he had resented the charge, threatened to kill his wife if she mentioned the matter again.The crime of which Mrs. Eason was convicted occurred last Feb.
12. Near midnight, police found the body of James Eason, stabbed, near Seventh boulevard and Park avenue. His wife was weeping over his body. Her daughter Clara was nearby.Mrs. Eason was reported to have confessed to police that her husband had received a veterans' check for $65 from the Government,
and he had promised to share it with her, she said, but instead had got drunk and spent it; she went out to look for him, found him,
a quarrel resulted and she stabbed
him to death.In court she said police had shown her a paper, saying it was a bond, and she had signed it.
Police swore she signed the confession only after making palinastak-ing corrections to it.Carried Knife for Protection.
Mrs. Eason testified she had carried a butcher knife from her mother's home for protection "in a bad neighborhood." She went out to look for Eason, she said, not because he had the $65 but because he was intoxicated and she feared he would have trouble driving his car. The scuffle that caused his death, she said, was precipitated when he threatened to kill her and advanced upon her with an open clasp-knife, she said, after she had "thrown up to him" the alleged attacks upon her daughter.FAIR TONIGHT AND TOMORROW;

CHILD SLAYER GETS LIFE IN SOLITARY AT HARD LABOR

Adolph Hotelling Unmoved When Flint, Mich., Judge Sentences Him for Killing Girl, 5.

STRUCK IN FACE BY HER FATHER

Courtroom Thrown Into Uproar by Parent's Attack—Prisoner's Only Request Is for His Family

By the Associated Press. FLINT, Mich., Jan. 19.—Solitary confinement at hard labor for the rest of his life was the punishment Circuit Judge Fred M. Brennan decreed for Adolph Hotelling as the utmost penalty the State could exact for the kidnapping, murder and mutilation of 5-year-old Dorothy Schneider.

The trial and sentencing took place here yesterday after Hotelling had been spirited into the city from the State reformatory at Joliet. The proceedings required only a few minutes and Hotelling was immediately strangled in his way to Saginaw by automobile, as a precaution against mob violence.

"You appear to have no regrets," said Judge Brennan in passing sentence, after the defendant had admitted details of the crime without showing emotion.

"The sentence of this Court is that you be confined in the Marquette branch prison in solitary confinement at hard labor for the balance of your life."

Prays and Weeps. The prisoner made no response and the judge shouted: "Hard labor, in solitary confinement, for the rest of your life! Do you understand?"

The slayer nodded his head in acknowledgment and the trial was over.

As the stolid church deacon was brought into the courtroom, Leslie Schneider, father of the child victim, sprang from his seat and struck the man on the face. The room was thrown into an uproar, but quiet was soon restored and Schneider was taken from the room.

Early today the prisoner and guards were taken to Marquette. So secret were the entire proceedings that residents of Saginaw were not aware that the slayer had been harbored there during the night until after the party had left.

During the trip to Saginaw, Hotelling alternately broke into fits of praying and weeping.

"How could I do it," he repeated over and over again. Frequently he referred to his own daughter, Louise.

"How I love her," he said. Officers guarded him closely to prevent a suicide attempt.

Leslie Schneider, the girl's father, had been the first witness. He formally identified her. Dr. W. H. Marshall, the physician who conducted the autopsy, followed. Segmiller offered no objection, nor did he enter a single word in behalf of his prisoner.

"Does that end the proof?" the judge asked the prosecutor, William Roberts. Roberts and Segmiller nodded.

"Stand up," barked Judge Brennan at Hotelling, who had sunk into a chair as though even at this hour he was too indifferent to pay attention. The defendant arose and faced the stern judge. "What have you to say?"

Admits Other Crimes. "All I have to say is that you take the family into consideration," the murderer replied.

"It appears to have no regrets. You did not take the family into consideration," the judge continued. "I have the deepest regret in the world."

That was Hotelling's one animated reply. He pitched his voice high, swung his head up from the downcast pose he maintained the rest of the time and gazed at the judge as though to challenge the man that he was not sorry for what he did.

"How many times have you done this before?" the judge went on. "I never done it in the world before."

"You assaulted two other little girls near Owosso, didn't you?" the judge asked.

"Yes, sir," came the mumbled reply. The judge then pronounced sentence.

New Signs in Union Station. Twenty-five signs in the lobby and waiting room of the Union Station, indicating the various bureaus and shops, have been changed from a glaring and confusing type to a smaller and more distinct device. Station officials report the change has reduced the number of needless questions by travelers. Experiences are under way with a view to improving visibility and appearance of the many signs in the lobby.

BROKER ARRESTED UPON CHARGE OF $300,000 FRAUD

writers' syndicate in the East" and could obtain large profits for his clients on money entrusted to him, but that his representations were fraudulent and he converted his clients' money to his own use.

In furthering his scheme, the warrant alleges, Roberts on April 4, 1927, mailed the following memorandum to Bottomley in care of Attorney Mayfield:

"I have this day made the following entries on your account—April 4, by subscription, $10,000 City of Rome External Loan of 1927, Sinking Fund, 4 1/2 per cent gold bonds, at 91 less 2 per cent when, as and if issued; $1000 of money on hand from former bond deals closed transferred to above subscription.

CHARLES V. H. ROBERTS. Gives $100,000 Bond.

Taken from the police holdover to the Federal Building, Roberts breakfasted on coffee and rolls, which were obtained by his sister from a nearby restaurant, and served on a counter in the office of Commissioner Atkins. Charles M. Hay of counsel for Roberts said no detailed statement would be made in his behalf at this time.

Attorney McLaran and Roberts' two daughters also were in the group that gathered around him.

Roberts was released on $10,000 bond, signed by two professional bondsmen, Clarence L. Owens and John Keegan. The Federal grand jury likely will consider the case next week.

Last night after Roberts had been arrested at his hotel he was questioned by Chief of Detectives Kaiser. He was reluctant to talk, but did say that some of his clients' claims were secured by his life insurance policies. Kaiser understood Roberts' brother-in-law had a $50,000 claim against him.

Roberts was packing his trunk when arrested, according to inspection by police. He was carrying a suitcase. The inspectors said they had been informed Roberts planned to leave St. Louis.

When reporters visited him, he said: "I don't care to make any statement. My books will speak better than words. It was all a matter of investment in stocks and bonds, and a question of the market going against us."

Questioned about certain clients, Roberts said he thought Bottomley's loss was about $2000. Mrs. Cleveland was "about even" and the "Mayfield firm" had a claim for $40,000.

One Client's Experience. Mrs. Cleveland, the former wife of Robert E. Nolker, complained against Roberts to District Attorney Breuer some time ago, asserting that she had entrusted $5000 in securities to him and lost $3500, saving the difference by taking up Roberts' notes at banks where her securities had been posted as collateral. Mrs. Cleveland told the District Attorney she was interested in recovering her money, but not in prosecuting Roberts.

Bottomley, talking to the Post-Dispatch from his home in Nokomis, Ill., said he had become interested in Roberts' deal through Attorney Mayfield, who handled the details for him, and he received "profits" representing about half of his investment.

"It was something about underwriting bonds," said Bottomley, "but to tell you the honest truth, I don't understand all about it."

Bottomley came to St. Louis yesterday and turned over to Post-office inspectors letters received by him from Roberts. "Sunny Jim" was smiling and apparently unworried.

Roberts, according to Postoffice Inspector Uttley, guaranteed his clients a profit ranging from one to one and a half points on stocks and bonds brought through him. The full prices of the securities was not to be paid, Uttley said, only a fractional "margin" being posted, hence, the promised profit was to be relatively large.

"Our investigation is in its infancy; we intend to make a thorough inquiry," Inspector Uttley added.

Inspector Uttley said that while Roberts had been unwilling to enter a detailed discussion with him before consulting counsel, the broker had told him enough to add considerably in the investigation. Among the statements attributed by Uttley to Roberts were: Roberts now broke, recently having turned his remaining equity in life insurance over to creditors, but thinks he can meet his obligations dollar for dollar if the opportunity is given him; Roberts had turned his remaining equity through which he dealt, and the inspectors will try to trace his transactions through them.

Circuit Attorney Sidener announced he had written a letter to Roberts yesterday, asking him for a conference concerning the complaint of a woman who said she had invested $9000 with Roberts but did not receive stock in return. The woman, whose name Sidener did not wish to disclose, did not ask for a warrant against Roberts but for official assistance in collecting from him. Sidener said it was evident there was an open account between them of a nature which would make any State prosecution difficult, even if it were warranted.

The Better Business Bureau has received numerous complaints against Roberts and has requested the State Securities Commissioner to revoke his license to do business in Missouri, it is announced today by Dwight L. Holmes, financial manager of the bureau.

Two suits on notes are pending in Circuit Court against Roberts. The plaintiff in one, Madam Henrietta de Bernard, women's wear dealer at 478 Lindell boulevard, alleges that she executed a $2000 note in her favor June 2, 1926, payable in one year, but failed to pay it. William R. Dellert, receiver of the Jerseyville (Ill.) National Bank, is plaintiff in the other suit. One W. O. Long is a joint defendant. It is alleged that Long executed a $2000 note in favor of Roberts, Sept. 11, 1926, and that Roberts discounted it at the bank, but that it is still unpaid.

Sued Bakewell for Slander. Roberts is 45 years old and a grandnephew of Charles Bland Smith, who was a wealthy and prominent St. Louisian. In 1906 he married Miss Eupenia Bakewell, daughter of Paul Bakewell Sr., an attorney.

Differences between Roberts and members of the Bakewell family became public in 1911 when Roberts sued his brother-in-law, Paul Bakewell Jr., for $50,000 damages, alleging Bakewell had slandered him by saying in the presence of various persons that Roberts had gone to Europe because he had lost his money and was an embezzler and I could send him to the penitentiary. Roberts charged that his brother-in-law said at another time: "He (Roberts) is not straight, is a crook and is dishonest and an embezzler."

The suit was withdrawn ten days later with Roberts announcing that Bakewell had denied making slanderous remarks. Bakewell, however, said he had retracted no statements made about Roberts.

Divorced in 1917. Roberts was divorced in 1917, his wife waiving alimony. The suit was not contested. Mrs. Roberts testified Roberts created stormy scenes in an effort to compel her to get money from her relatives. He explained his need of money,

LIBRARY AND ZOO TAXES UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

Writs Issued to Force City to Appropriate Money to Cover Special Levies Ignored by Officials.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 19.—Two opinions of the Missouri Supreme Court, upholding the St. Louis special tax levies for the public library and zoo, appear to dispose of the effort of the city administration to overthrow those levies. The special levies are 4 cents on the valuation for the library, 2 cents for the zoo and 2 cents for the art museum. The art museum tax was upheld by the Supreme Court in 1912.

Mayor Miller and Comptroller Nolle of St. Louis promptly protested the shortage of funds and the limitation upon the tax rate for municipal purposes, endeavoring last spring to discontinue the special levies for the library and zoo. This would have required those institutions to depend on the Board of Aldermen for their appropriations. The governing boards of the institutions filed mandamus suits to require the setting aside of the funds and these suits were upheld by the Supreme Court yesterday.

Must Appropriate Money for 1927. Delays through the litigation will not deprive the institutions of their legal rights for 1927, although the period for making the levies and collecting the 1927 taxes has expired.

Chief Justice R. F. Walker wrote the decision of the zoo tax and Judge J. T. White expressed the opinion on the library tax. All of the judges concurred.

Judge Walker, in the zoo tax ruling, said the law having been held constitutional, it would not be a defense for the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to claim that the city revenues were needed for other purposes.

"To hold would, in effect, authorize the representatives of the city to substitute their judgment for the mandatory terms of a law which, in addition to its force and effect as a legislative enactment, has been given the express approval of the taxpayers," Judge Walker held.

He ruled it was the duty of the city officials to include the tax in their budget and order them to set aside the Zoo funds from the 1927 tax collections, as if the levy had been included.

Judge White was more severe in condemnation of the action of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, in the opinion on the library tax.

"The city authorities deliberately ignored and violated the mandatory statute which had been adopted by the city," Judge White wrote. "In this case the city authorities are attempting to avoid a legal levy by absorbing its funds for other purposes. The question is whether the city officials, having thus deliberately violated the law, may be compelled to observe it."

City Officials Defied Law. "Here is a legislative act, imperative in its terms, put in force by the people of the city, which shall remain in force until repealed by the city council, and which put it in force, as provided in the act itself. If it had been desired to reduce the rate or abolish it altogether, the remedy was simply to submit it to a vote and let the people who adopted it amend or abolish it."

"But the city officials, the servants of those people, so far as the City of St. Louis is concerned, are not willing to modify or repeal the act in the manner pointed out by the law. They have not in any regular, authorized, legal way sought to obtain relief from what they are bound by the law to do. They have sought to evade the law by a prescribed method, they announce their fixed intention to disobey the specific administrative duty commanded of them by the act."

The court held the city officials had the right to contest the constitutionality of a law by refusing to obey it, but in doing so they assume the risk that cognate involves. It ruled that the city officials could not evade the law by mere expedient of allowing the time to pass in which they could regularly act, nor could they defeat its purpose by attempting to absorb for other purposes the funds the law required them to use for a specific purpose.

In 1926 the library tax of 4 cents produced $426,800 and the Museum and Zoo each received about $231,000 from their 2-cent levies.

Comptroller Nolle Says Decision Probable Settles It. Comptroller Nolle said today that the Supreme Court's decision would probably settle the question of the special levies. The full amounts have been set apart as heretofore, pending the decision. He pointed to an opinion of the Law Department, that the special levies were illegal, as the basis for the action of the city administration. Associate City Counselor Dolan, who has handled the case, said a motion for a rehearing might be filed, but that this would not be determined until the opinions have been studied.

JUDGE CRITICISES 8-YEAR PENALTY FOR WIFE SLAYER

Jury Foreman Faints While Being Questioned as to the Manslaughter Verdict Against Fred Huber.

"Evidently this jury held human life rather cheap," Circuit Judge Rutledge commented last night
after a jury in his court had brought in a verdict letting off
Fred Huber, 30-year-old wife-slayer, with a sentence of eight years in the penitentiary for manslaughter.

The Judge then sought to question the jurors as to their verdict.
"The defendant told two different stories," he said. "I should like to know which story the jury believed. How did you arrive at this verdict?"

Foreman William G. Callies of 4812 A Red Bud avenue started to explain to the Court.
"Your honor," he said, "we didn't think the evidence justified
a verdict of first degree murder as no malice was shown. We couldn't find for a willful murder and the jurors couldn't agree on anything more serious than manslaughter." Callies indicated, however, that he had been in favor of a verdict of second degree murder.

Court for Murder Verdict.
Judge Rutledge remarked: "The Court can understand your hesi-
tancy over a first degree murder
verdict, but the Court feels a verdict of murder in the second degree was warranted by the evidence in this case."

Whereupon, Foreman Callies
fainted and was unconscious several minutes. Judge Rutledge excused the jurors without further discussion of the verdict.
Testimony revealed that Huber
had told two widely conflicting stories of the shooting and several variations of these. There were no eyewitnesses. Huber and his wife, Eleanor, 24 years old, were in a bedroom in their home at 5175 Rosa avenue when the shooting occurred. Mrs. Huber's brother, Harry Smith, of 2847 Wyoming
street, was in the living room.

When a shot was fired in the bedroom, Smith ran from the house to get a policeman. Before he returned neighbors and ambulance men had rushed in. Huber met them with the story that his wife had committed suicide. He told them he and she were alone in the house at the time.

Tells of Quarrel About Radio.
The slayer stuck to this story
until police confronted him with Smith, who said he had been in the house for some time that evening and was there when the shot was fired. Abandoning the suicide version, Huber then made a signed confession in which he said he and his wife had quarreled over the tuning of the radio and he had shot her in a scuffle for possession of a revolver.

"I shot to frighten her," was one of his statements.
Yesterday Huber took the stand and told a variation from that story. He said that after the quarrel in the living room his wife went into the bedroom in a fit of pique. He followed her in to get a jug of wine—they had been drinking home brew—and heard a click. Turning, he saw her with a revolver in her hand. He said he seized her wrist and tried to shake the revolver loose, but in some way it turned toward Mrs.
Huber and went off. A bullet struck her in the face and penetrated the brain. Huber insisted yesterday that she had in this manner shot herself.

The prosecution produced a police expert who said it would have been impossible for Mrs. Huber to have inflicted the wound herself
in the way Huber described it.
There was also complete testimony
showing Huber's varying tales.
The slayer's lawyer has not asked for a new trial.

A TAMER SUNDAY TALKS TO GROUP AT 'PARLOR MEETING'

Evangelist Modulates Voice, Manner and Language in Addressing 275 Women
in Private Home.

The same Billy Sunday who goes to and fro on his platform at the Coliseum as a roaring lion became as a gentle lamb today at a "parlor meeting" in the home of Mrs. John Leigh Green.

Seated in three large rooms of the Green residence, 12 Kingsburg place, were occupied by 275 women, and the Messrs. Martin and Sally Green, with some of their friends, stood in a fourth room. Men were not numerous. All were invited to the next "parlor meeting" at 10:15 a. m. Wednesday in the parlor of the Buckingham Hotel, as guests of Mrs. Theodore Frewitt.

Sunday said "vase" with a tremendously broad "a." His vicious 15-foot lunge at the devil was toned down to the sharp impact of his clenched fist against his open palm. His trip-hammer invective became a gentle admonition—gentle but firm. His vivid and imaginative slang was deleted to a single reference to "hitting the high spots." But, astounding as was the transformation, he was by no means tame.

Fits Manner to Audience.

It all supported the theory drawn from his sermons at the Coliseum, that he simply suits his "line" to the audience. To quote a Scotch proverb, one does not fight Irishmen with rapiers, or Frenchmen with bricks. Sunday's slang has appeared deliberately rather than illiterate. That he talks American has not proved that he is not conversant with English. He told of the exile of "the man without a country," and likened him to "a man without a soul." He argued that religion was about the only personal advantage of men over monkeys, and cited mother love, love of beauty and various proficiencies of animals to support the argument.

"But you never saw an animal go down on its knees in prayer," he remarked.

Rapping at evolution, Sunday insisted that the only logical prayer for a believer in evolution would be—"Our Father Who art up a coconut tree, hallowed be Thy name."

Says Spiritual World Is Real.
"The spiritual world is as real as the material world," he said. "The person who lives exclusively in the material world is the consummate fool of the age. The woman whose interests go no further than her cook, her maid, dressmaker and hairdresser is nothing more than a refined species of animal."

The evangelist had almost as many hands to shake afterward as Tuesday night, when he called for a church members' pledge. Everywhere were comments of "Don't you like him?" and "Isn't he darling?" and there were italics in the infection.

"Isn't he good?" commented one of the younger set. "Did you imagine he'd be so attractive? I thought he'd be just a typical preacher—you know, rabid about everything."

Man Cannot "Put One Over on God," Sunday Says in Sermon.
Billy Sunday chatted about Jonathan last night to a gathering limited by the bad weather and the

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.
Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.
If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—stitch headache—torrid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.
Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 25c, 50c.

fact that many church members
were attending prayer meeting.
The rear balcony of the Coliseum
was untenanted.

That fire-side sort of intimacy
was a new thing for his evening
sermons and a rather difficult thing to put over, but it seemed that he did it. It was quite obvious, 15 minutes after he began,
in a mood for that than for his usual hell-fire pulpit pugilism against Satan.

So he chuckled a great deal,
told several amusing stories and a growl came from the back of his biggest verbal grenades with a grin and a genial, "Get that into your old bean." And, after he had put in a half hour or so of hard work the listeners began to show signs of interest.

Jonah Like St. Louisans.

Although Sunday expatiated on the whole history of Jonah, he dwelt principally upon the prophet's shirking the task of carrying to Nineveh the message that the city was doomed for its sins.

"Running Away From God,"
was his topic, and he dealt with Jonah as "Just like a lot of people right here in St. Louis, fools enough to think they can put it over on the Lord." He cast no doubt on the story that Jonah was swallowed by a "great fish."

Apparently the story that went over best was the one, apropos of churchly tepidity, about the Tennessee village infidel who joined the bucket-line when the church caught fire. Somebody jibed, "this is the first time I ever saw you
at church," and the free-thinker replied, "It's the first time I ever saw this church on fire."

Asks for "Thank Offering."
Sunday repeated his request that each person Sunday afternoon
make a "thank offering," the minimum being a cent for each year of the giver's age. It has been reiterated that the local committee desires to clear off the $30,000 expenses of the meetings with that offering, and cease taking collections at each service. The evangelist does not share in them, but will take his compensation in free-will offerings on the last two days
of the seven weeks' revival.

Friday morning prayer meetings
were announced for Haven Street, St. Paul's and Maple Avenue Methodist churches, with a special meeting at 1 p. m. tomorrow at Wagoner Place Methodist Church.
His topic at 2:30 p. m. at the Coliseum was "Ye Must Be Born Again," and for 7:30 p. m., "Coin of the Realm of Heaven." The Rotary Club has made a reservation for tonight. McKendree College quartet sang at last night's services.

EAST ST. LOUIS TO VOTE

City Council Passes Enabling Ordinance to Permit Installation of Pipe Lines—Referendum
in April.
An enabling ordinance to franchise the Cahokia Manufacturers Gas Co., a subsidiary corporation of the Illinois Light & Power Co., was passed by the East St. Louis City Council yesterday delegating the right to install pipe lines in East St. Louis to supply the industrial district with natural gas.
Similar ordinances have been applied for or have been granted in Madison, Granite City, Belleville
and other towns in the East Side industrial district. City officials said it was regretted that the gas from the Louisiana fields.
The term of the franchise is 25
years and will be submitted to referendum in the April general election.

ST. LOUIS FIRE FIGHTERS WON'T BE SENT OUTSIDE CITY
Failure of Suburbs To Pay for Services Causes Director Brod
To Issue Order.

Hereafter, St. Louis fire apparatus will not be sent outside the city limits to fight fires. Director of Public Safety Brod announced yesterday.

He said his action was due to the fact that during the last six months bills for about $500 for fire fighting in St. Louis County suburban sections had gone unpaid. Some time ago an ordinance was passed authorizing the department to go outside the city in case of need at a charge of $50 an hour.
Director Brod cited one instance of a $112 bill against a property owner, who paid $59 but declined to settle the balance.

FRIENDS OF FARM RELIEF SPLIT ON EQUALIZATION FEE

Two Members of House Committee Say They Will Not Vote to Report Bill Including Plan.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A split in the ranks of the supporters of the equalization fee principle of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill developed today at a meeting of the House Agriculture Committee.

One Republican, Williams of Illinois, announced that he would not again vote to report a bill embodying this controversial provision. His statement was seconded by Representative Ketchum (Rep.) of Michigan. The opinion that such a bill would be amended on the House floor to cut out the equalization fee previously had been expressed by Representative Adkins (Rep.) of Illinois.

The McNary-Haugen bill was approved by the committee last year by a margin of one vote, 11 to 10, as a substitute for the Crisp measure, patterned on a different line. With this in mind, its proponents are anticipating a hard fight in view of the changed sentiments announced today.

While they did not renounce what they regard as the merits of the equalization fee proposal, the three Republican committee members contended that a bill should be reported which would meet administrative approval if passed by Congress. They held no hope that President Coolidge would approve a bill embodying the equalization fee principle, inasmuch as he condemned it last year in vetoing the McNary-Haugen bill.

Chairman Haugen, however, said he does not intend to surrender that provision, and would fight to have his bill modified in several other respects, approved by the committee. The flareup today was precipitated by testimony of Chester H. Gray, legislative representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who said that the farmer demands the equalization fee or nothing, "because it is the only device yet evolved which will keep him from becoming a pensioner of the Federal Treasury."

Gray testified that farmers' conferees had been willing to sacrifice other disputed points in the old McNary-Haugen bill so long as the equalization fee was retained as a basis on which a permanent farm relief structure might be reared. This course was followed, he said, in the belief that the present bill would meet both with congressional and presidential approval.

The advantage of setting up a permanent advisory commodity council was argued before the committee by Gray in substituting a proposed amendment to the McNary-Haugen bill.

Gray said the suggested amendment had been agreed on recently at a meeting here of representative farmers.

Instead of providing for commodity advisory councils during temporary emergencies, the amendment, Gray said, would provide for an advisory council in each of the 15 Federal Land Bank districts. These councils would study the agricultural situation in their districts relative to any commodities in which there was a surplus, he continued, and would be ready to work whenever an emergency arose.

Under the amendment proposed the Federal Farm Board would be empowered to arrange for the marketing of a surplus of any commodity when it is favored by these advisory councils "in districts which in the aggregate represent more than 60 per cent" of the commodity.

Surplus marketing also would be authorized when that move is approved by a substantial number of co-operative associations or other organizations of producers of the commodity, and likewise when the board finds "there is or may be during the ensuing year a surplus above the requirements for the orderly marketing of any agricultural commodity or above the domestic requirements."

CANTINE
"The Hard Soft-Coal"

Many persons remarked after using our Small Furnace Size last season: "I did not know that Soft Coal was produced like CANTINE Small Furnace or I would have had it years ago—so clean—so even in size—so light and easy to handle—makes so much better fire and lasts longer than big lump." Maybe you do not know that CANTINE is produced like anthracite egg—in clean chunks all about the size of oranges. Insist upon it. Also ask your dealer for a copy of "Firing in 1928," or telephone CHeatnut 7380 and we will gladly send a copy.

HOST AND WOMAN GUEST SHOT AFTER A DINNER PARTY

Hartford Police Hold as Material Witness Wife of Physician Found Wounded With Guest.

By the Associated Press.
HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 19.—Detectives assigned to investigate the shooting of Mrs. Clara H. Gaudet, 24 years old, of New Haven, and Dr. Harold Guilfoyle, 23, of this city, in the Guilfoyle apartment following a dinner party last night, were confronted today with the problem of picking from the statements of the interested parties and witnesses something on which to base a motive for the crime and which would also indicate which one of the party did the actual shooting.

One of the chief developments in the case today was the holding of Mrs. Harold Guilfoyle in $10,000 bonds as a material witness after she had told the police that her husband confessed trying to take his own life. Other developments were:

A statement made by Gaudet that he knew Dr. Guilfoyle to be "queer" but did not think that he would have shot Mrs. Gaudet and himself; Mrs. Gaudet's apparent inability to account for her being shot, and the statement of police that Mrs. Gaudet had been a frequent visitor to the Guilfoyle apartment and had on one occasion been caught embracing the doctor by Mrs. Guilfoyle.

Mrs. Gaudet is in a serious condition and Dr. Guilfoyle lost the sight of his right eye from a bullet wound in the head.

Another development was the denial of Dr. Guilfoyle that he had either done any of the shooting or told his wife that he had attempted suicide.

Mrs. Guilfoyle told police that she was still in the apartment when her husband went to the street door with Mrs. Gaudet. A few seconds later she heard shots and when she stepped into the hall saw her husband and Mrs. Gaudet leaning against the opposite walls of the corridor. Mrs. Gaudet was screaming and her husband's face was bleeding. His revolver was on the floor near him, she declared, and after picking up the revolver, she assisted him upstairs. She did not know at the time, she declared, that Mrs. Gaudet was wounded, and her husband told her that he had tried to end his own life.

Dr. Guilfoyle, interviewed by detectives, declared that he had no part in the shooting. He denied telling his wife that he had shot himself. Mrs. Guilfoyle explained this by saying that he had also told her not to mention it to the police.

The Guilfoyles have been married 15 years. Dr. Guilfoyle lived in Philadelphia before coming to this city and Mrs. Guilfoyle is a native of Camden, N. J. Dr. Guilfoyle is a cattle inspector for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Excess Fat Bars Goodies

Get Thin without Starvation

Excess fat causes many constant self-denials. Every day brings a new fight, and only a small percentage gain in those ways what they seek. The real cause is left uncorrected.

Over 20 years ago medical science discovered a great cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of a substance which controls nutrition. A factor which Nature employs to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat.

Then that factor was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Now people have used them for two decades—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. Today everyone can see that excess fat is nowhere near as common as it was. In almost every circle slenderness prevails.

The use of Marmola requires no abnormal exercises or diet, though moderation helps. Users simply take four tablets daily until they correct the cause. They know what they are taking, and why. The formula is given in every box, also the reasons for all results. Every user knows why the benefits come, and why they involve no harm.

You should try Marmola. Consider what it has done for so long, for so many. Watch what it brings to you in new beauty, new health and vitality. Learn the easy, pleasant, right way to a normal figure. As long as you live you may be glad that you found this scientific method. Order now—before you forget it. Do not wait.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will send you a box from his stock.

WHEN YOUR HAND GOES TO YOUR HEART

Difficulty in breathing and heart palpitation are symptoms of high blood pressure, which may cut off life suddenly. Our modern habits of life are responsible, putting too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver.

When the liver becomes "limp" or sluggish it fails to cleanse the blood of the toxic poisons formed in food waste. The poisons then permeate the system, affecting stomach, kidneys, heart and blood pressure.

The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as medical men today know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. A few bring impressive results. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at druggists.

KOELN PLANNING HUGE MACHINE TO BACK CAULFIELD

Indorsement of Former Judge First Step in State: Wide Organization of G. O. P. Leaders.

AID OF BAKER AND HYDE TO BE SOUGHT

Will Have Advantage as There Are Four Other Candidates to Split the Anti-Boss Vote.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.

The indorsement of former Judge Henry S. Caulfield for the Republican nomination for Governor by the Koeln faction of the party organization in St. Louis Tuesday night was the first step in carrying out plans for the most extensive State-wide consolidation of practical organization politicians known to a Missouri primary election.

If the plans are possible of accomplishment virtually every important political leader in the State will be back of the Caulfield candidacy with the full force of the State administration, operating through the huge host of State employees working at the expense of the public treasury, to carry out the will of the leaders, who, in addition to the nomination of Caulfield is the nomination for former Gov. Hyde for United States Senator.

Four Other Candidates.

And as is usual the organization will have all the advantage, notwithstanding preparation of other candidates to wage a vigorous anti-boss fight. There are already four other candidates to divide the anti-organization strength, and because of this division the difficulties of overcoming the organization influence are increased.

The organization gets out its vote in the primary, and though that is a minority of the total vote cast, it always gets to the polls, while candidates opposed by the organization must wage a campaign to arouse a class of voters who usually exhibit little interest in a primary contest.

The plan of the practical politicians, which has been in the making for several months, includes a combination of the Baker administration forces, the following of former Gov. Hyde, National Committeeman Clements, the Koeln faction in St. Louis and the Kansas City organization, led by Herman Langworthy and R. R. Brewster.

Promoters of Scheme Confident.

There was a hitch Tuesday night when virtually all the leaders outside the Koeln faction in St. Louis remained away from the conference, but the promoters of the scheme appear confident that if they can line up the outstate interests, they will force the hesitating leaders in St. Louis to abandon their reluctance and join in.

It seems virtually certain that Hyde has been deep in all the preliminary negotiations and that in exchange for Koeln support in St. Louis, where Hyde is lamentably weak, that the Hyde following in the country will go along for the Koeln choice for Governor.

It does not appear that the Baker following has been lined up definitely, but the lure has been cast before the Governor that by going in with Hyde, Clements and Koeln, he can get a complimentary vote of the Missouri delegation in the national convention for the nomination for Vice President, some such vote as was promised in the Democratic support in 1916 for former Gov. Major, and meaning about as much as that did. It may be expected that the administration forces will be in the game with the balance of the remainder of the organization.

Leader of Opposition.

Against this aggregation, the leadership has been taken by William R. Schneider, Speaker pro tem of the Legislature, who in a statement yesterday denounced boss rule and boss dictation of primaries.

Schneider demanded to know whether "the people will submit to the dictators' lip of Boss Koeln and virtual disfranchisement," and whether the people desire a continuation "of the present spoils."

system which is the source of the power of the boss." Schneider has a hard campaign ahead of him, however. He must divide the anti-machine vote with Dr. James Stewart, Lieut. Gov. Phil A. Bennett and Probate Judge Sam D. Hodgdon.

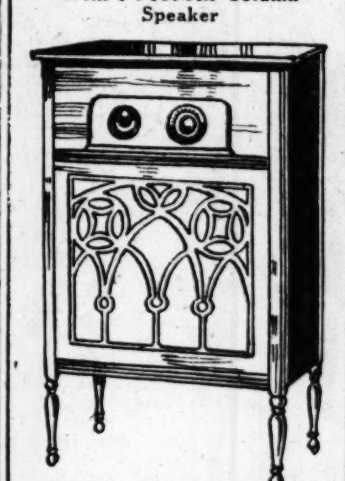

It is a situation not unlike that of 1922, when the organization generally, but not to the extent proposed this year, supported R. R. Brewster for the Senatorial nomination. The Brewster vote was only one-third of the total vote cast, but the remaining two-thirds was divided between six candidates, and Brewster was the winner by 22,000.

So far the Kansas City organization has been holding away from the alliance, but it may be reached by the time of the State Committee meeting in St. Louis Monday.

tee meeting in St. Louis Monday. Koeln is reaching out for control of the State Committee through the possible selection of Edward W. Foristel for State Chairman. However, if necessary, he may concede the job to Kansas City to bring that group into line. If Langworthy should be named chairman with the support of the Koeln committeemen, it would be an indication that Kansas City has gone over to Koeln.

In cold-rain-snow-always at his post
295 of New York's Honor Police say, "This kills exposure aches"

MORE dangerous to the policeman than the gunman and the gangster is his constant exposure to wet and cold.

While other people are scuttling to shelter, or snug in the shelter of their homes, the policeman has to stand and face the rain, the blizzard, the biting winds of winter.

Yet where do you find such splendid examples of physical fitness as on the police force? A policeman keeps in the pink of condition when other men would be down with rheumatism or the "flu."

How New York's finest treat muscular pain

We made a canvass of the Honor Police of New York City—the men who wear above their badges the colored stripe that tells of courageous and distinguished service—to find out what they use to overcome the effects of exposure.

295 whom we asked said, "We use Sloan's."

Everywhere people whose work exposes them to damp and cold or to muscular strain, swear by Sloan's Liniment. It saves them hours of suffering—days of lost time.

Read this statement from a policeman who has served on the Philadelphia police force for twenty-seven years: "As I have used a considerable quantity of Sloan's Liniment in the last few months and received almost instant relief, I think it my duty for the sake of humanity to recommend it to others. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Sloan's for all pains in the back and legs, as I do a lot of walking and am exposed to all kinds of weather." William R. Christy, Sr., 1933 Master Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

One of New York's Honor Police. 295 told us that Sloan's is their best defense against exposure

And this from a man whose work means even more exposure—even more muscular strain: "I have been a life-guard for the City of New York for many years. Sometimes after having been out on the beach all day in rainy weather or a damp day, I come home with my body aching all over with muscular rheumatism. But as soon as I apply Sloan's Liniment, the pain goes away. It gives me the quickest relief of any medicine I know. I also find it good for a rub-down after a long swim or a rescue, and I always carry a bottle of Sloan's in my first-aid kit." Walter C. Menyhart, 918 Gravesend Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Sloan's is sure—quick

Sloan's Liniment is scientific. It doesn't just deaden the nerves so that you don't feel the pain. It stirs up the body's own forces to throw off the cause of the trouble. The pain stops because the cause is removed.

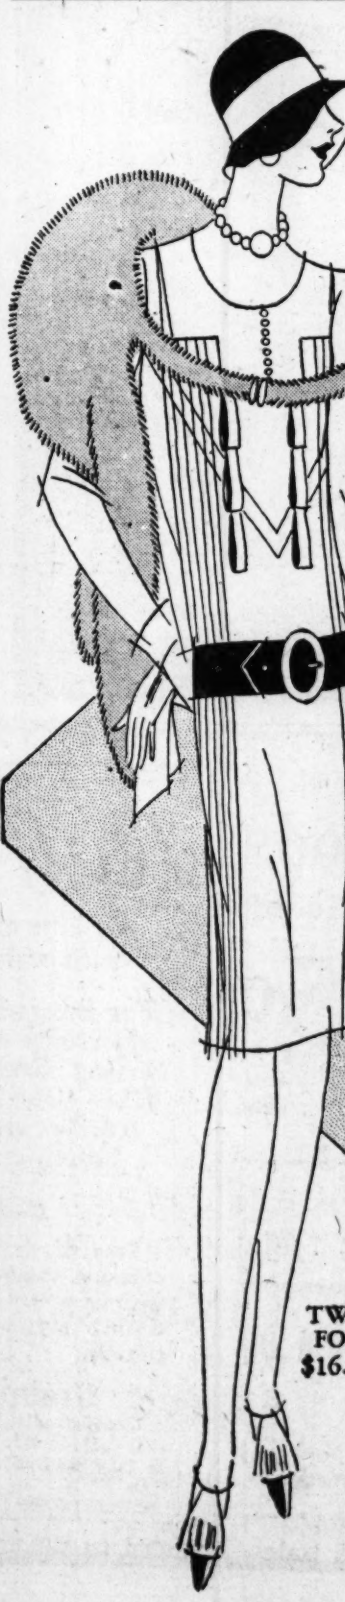

If you've got wet or chilled, Sloan's wards off rheumatism, prevents colds and keeps your muscles from getting stiff and sore.

If your muscles ache from overstrain, Sloan's takes out the pain and limbers them up as nothing else can. Never be without it. Get a bottle today and have it on hand for the first emergency. All druggists—35 cents. Use it for:

Rheumatism
Sciatica
Lumbago
Neuralgia
Sprains and bruises
Lame muscles
Stiff neck
Colds and congestions

A company physician who cares for hundreds of workers every year says: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

American Arraigned in Bahamas.
By the Associated Press.
NASSAU, Bahamas, Jan. 19.—C. H. (Pop) Neale, former American prohibition agent, pleaded not guilty in Supreme Court here yesterday at his arraignment on charges of larceny and receiving in connection with the seizure by a United States coast guard patrol boat of a liquor-running vessel several months ago. His trial was postponed until Jan. 26.

go after "YELLOW MASK"

Don't let that Yellowish Tinge on your Teeth Deny You Beauty! This New Way Brings Glorious Whiteness Quickly—Try It!

All tooth enamel is ivory white—yours, too.
That yellowness comes from a "liquid cement" in your saliva, which glues to your teeth—then hardens. Forms a glassy envelope over the enamel. Food, tobacco and coffee stain it yellow. Ordinary dentifrices give no aid—they gloss right over this "Yellow Mask."

But there is a special, non-gritty substance that banishes this beauty blight swiftly. Foremost dentists use it for cleaning difficult-to-whiten teeth and putting a high polish on them. Can't harm the most delicate enamel. This substance is known as "Tri-Calcium Phosphate." The beauty miracles it works are amazing.

Now dental science has succeeded in composing a pleasant, tasty tooth paste of this magic "Tri-Calcium Phosphate," which means that the whitening powers of this material are now yours for everyday use. And that unsightly "Yellow Mask" can now be banished!

The name of this remarkable dentifrice is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. No tooth paste has had so great a reception. Dentists everywhere endorse it. Noted movie stars have adopted it. Women and men testify to beauty effects that are a revelation.

We want you to try this magic ORPHOS. It's different. Doesn't foam and froth, but old how it whitens and polishes! Get your first tube today. Don't wait. If you don't say it is the finest cleaning tooth paste you ever used, return the unused part of the tube to your druggist and get your money back.

Switches Back to Favorite Tobacco

Peoria, Ill.
Aug. 26, 1928
Messrs. Larus & Bro. Co.
Richmond, Va.
Dear Sirs:
Just a confession and an appreciation. A number of years ago I was a user of your Edgeworth smoking tobacco. But like some others, perhaps, I was led by alluring advertisements to change. A few days ago I went into a drug store to get some tobacco, and on the case was the familiar can of Edgeworth. I bought it and since then I have enjoyed old-time comfort.
So my confession is that I made a mistake in changing to other brands, and my appreciation is such that Edgeworth will be my Smoke Pal while life lasts, which may not be long, for I have passed my "three score years and ten."

Very truly yours,

CALLS ON U. S. TO JOIN WORLD COURT

Conference on Cure of War
Also Opposes Wilbur Naval Program.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The conference on the cause and cure of war at its closing session here today definitely went on record as favoring the entrance of the United States into the Permanent Court of International Justice, and as opposing increased naval construction at a time when the State Department is proposing treaties renouncing war.
The first resolution, adopted unanimously and almost without discussion, authorized the permanent Committee on the Cause and Cure of War to address a letter to President Coolidge recommending the reopening of negotiations looking toward the adherence of the United States to the World Court.
The second resolution, introduced by Mrs. Louis Ames Mead of Boston, opposed both the proposed increased expenditure for naval armament and any withdrawal of the President's right to alter the naval program should circumstances warrant it. During the discussion the feeling was expressed that the Wilbur naval construction program is in itself an expression of lack of confidence in the State Department's newly launched peace campaign as expressed in the discussion with France of treaties for the renunciation of war.

AS SPIES IN ENGLANDGeorge McCartney, Soldier of Fortune, One of Convicted Russian Agents.Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch
from the New York World.
Copyright, 1928, by the News and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., New York.LONDON, Jan. 19. — Wilfred Thomas McCartney, Englishman
who in the 29 years of his life has had a remarkably romantic career
and George Hansen, German born and 24, were convicted yesterday
in Old Bailey of having spied here for the Russian Government, and each was sentenced to ten years'
penal servitude.McCartney's defense was a total denial of all the charges which he said were the fabrications of George Monkland, member of Lloyds who while pretending to aid McCartney
was really working for Scotland Yard, the secret service and the intelligence branch of the War Office.Hansen's defense was that he was collecting information for a mysterious German Dr. Odenbach who told him he was writing a pacifist anti-war book and wanted to know about shipment of arms
from Great Britain to foreign countries. Hansen's counsel contended that Odenbach was really a Russian super-spy and that Hansen
had acted innocently in his dealing with him. Scotland Yard detectives testified they had failed to find any trace of a man with such a name in England last June as testified to by Hansen. The prosecution bluntly charged that the reason McCartney was spying was because he was making $3000 a year out of the job.Excoriated by Judge.
The judge in passing sentence
said: "A spy is very often a brave man who for the sake of his country encounters very serious personal risk, but in this matter you have been doing nothing for your country."At the outbreak of the World War he enlisted in the Third Gordon Highlanders, telling the authorities he was 19, though he was actually 15. He was wounded in France in November, 1914, and in the following year he received a commission in the Royal Scots and was sent to the East.In 1916 he acted as assistant post commandant in the Nile delta zone and afterward was appointed assistant chief constable in Athens.
When only 17 he was appointed Governor of Zea, an island in the Aegean Sea, and afterward was made British commissioner of Cefiro, another Greek island.Quells Two Revolts.
He was placed in command of the combined British-French-Greek forces and quelled a rebellion in one of the Aegean islands for which he was mentioned in the official dispatches and was decorated at Saloniki by Venizelos, then head of the Greek Government.He was next King's messenger between Corfu and Rome. At the end of 1917 he rejoined the Royal Scots and in the fighting around Cambrai was wounded and captured. He was taken to Hanover but escaped from the German guards by jumping from a train.
After many hardships he reached Holland and came to London where he reported to Sir Wyndham Childs
at the War Office and received a certificate of merit from the army council. Later on account of his knowledge of the East and its languages he was sent to Constantinople as second-class officer with the rank of Captain.Constipated?Take NR-NATURE'S REMEDY—tonight.

HAVANA CONGRESS SELECTS LEADERS FOR COMMITTEES

Colombian Minister to U. S.
Heads Pan-American Union Affairs When Hughes Declines.

SAFETY VALVE ON SPECIAL QUESTIONS

Morrow to Return to Mexican Post as Previously Arranged—Optimism Is General.

By the Associated Press.
HAVANA, Jan. 19.—Dr. Enrique Olaya, Colombian Minister to the United States, this morning was elected chairman of the important committee on Pan-American Union affairs, after Charles Evans Hughes and Honorable Pueyrredon, Argentine delegate, had declined to stand for election.

This committee, with that on public international law, is regarded as the most important in the Pan-American Congress, as it will deal with the few political questions which are likely to arise in the conference. Hughes was nominated for the chairmanship by Dr. J. Varela, Uruguayan Minister of the Interior, who paid tribute to him as a man, lawyer and statesman, and declared Hughes had been "one of the greatest of Pan-American presidents for his wise counsel and devotion to duty and his enlightened conception of Pan-American ideals."

Hughes' Pleads Lack of Time.
The applause had not subsided when Hughes expressed regret that his duties as chairman of the American delegation would occupy too much of his time to allow him to fulfill the chairmanship of this committee properly.

His knowledge of the Spanish language was a further hindrance to his accepting the post. Senor Pueyrredon likewise refused the chairmanship, on the ground that his duties as head of the Argentine delegation, prevented acceptance.

Gustavo Guerrero, chief of the Salvadoran delegation and Foreign Minister of El Salvador, was elected president of the Committee on Public International Law and unified legislation. He was nominated by Orestes Ferrera of Cuba, seconded by Hughes.

Senor Guerrero's ability, saying he had had previous experience with him in international conferences, and believed that he was best qualified to act. He was elected by acclamation.

Raul Fernandez, Brazil, was proclaimed vice chairman of the Public International Law Committee, and Leonardo Diaz Leon of Paraguay vice chairman of the Pan-American Union Affairs Committee.

Senor Pueyrredon was chosen chairman of the Committee on Frontier Police, because he is the author of boundary treaties between Argentina and Chile and Argentina and Bolivia. The other chairmen include James Brown Scott, United States.

In "Ornamental Capacity."
Victor Maurtua, Peruvian Ambassador to Brazil, was elected president of the International Private Law Committee on motion of Judge Morgan J. O'Brien. Prof. James Brown Scott was elected vice president. In accepting, Prof. Scott said he would serve in an ornamental capacity.

A question arose as to the number of committees for the study of international private law in its five divisions. Eventually it was decided on a recommendation of Senor Bustamante that one should be appointed to study the uniformity of international convention law and five others for the remaining divisions.

Eight separate committees were named as follows: Fundamental Basis of States, Status of Aliens, Treaties, External and Internal Frontier Police, Consular and Diplomatic Status, Maritime Neutrality, Asylum and Obligation of States, Pacific Settlement.

NICARAGUAN AND MEXICAN FLAGS LOUDLY CHEERED AT PAN-AMERICAN CEREMONY

Tribute at Havana Gathering of 21 Western Nations Almost Equals That for U. S. Colors; Wilson Honored.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 19.—Nicaragua was not mentioned at the first plenary session of the Pan-American conference, but the emblem of Nicaragua evoked more applause than that of any other Latin state, except Mexico, at the flag raising ceremony preceding the opening of the session. One by one flags of 11 nations were run up yesterday on standards, erected on both sides of the great stairway in front of the university, where the conference is meeting.

Sustained applause greeted the raising of the Stars and Stripes by Charles E. Hughes and this demonstration was almost, if not quite, equaled by cheers for Mexican and Nicaraguan flags. Tribute to these two was markedly greater and more spontaneous than that for any other Latin country.

Applause for various flags came not merely from delegates, but from the crowd of 2000 which witnessed the ceremony.

In the opinion of many observers, the cheering for Nicaragua was proof of popular Latin-American sympathy for the fight of Gen. Sandoval against the United States Marines, but no echo of this feeling was heard at the congress session. This consisted mainly of exchange of verbal bouquets, with the United States receiving a full share.

Hall Richly Decorated.
The meeting was held in a beautiful hall richly decorated for the occasion with red draperies and symbolic frieze, indicating the Indian origins of American nations.

Seating of the delegates was in alphabetical order, an arrangement which gave the United States and Mexican delegates adjoining positions in front of the presiding officer.

Looking at the delegates and hearing fervid Latin oratory, one was struck by the fact that the essentially Latin character of the gathering. The United States was one nation, an alien nation, among 20 others bound together by a common language and culture.

Save for a few words by Hughes all speeches were in Latin tongues, the Portuguese of the Brazilian delegates and the Spanish of the Latin American delegates. The English speech of Hughes was translated into Spanish, but there was no translation into English of the other addresses.

Official records of the conference are kept in Spanish. From time to time there has been a movement for formation of a Pan-Latin Union, or Pan-Latin bloc within the present union. No one observing the Havana proceedings could wonder at this movement. The remarkable thing, indeed, is that it has not gone further.

Reference to Wilson.
Dr. Rafael Martinez Ortiz, Secretary of State of Cuba, opened the session with an address reviewing the history of Pan-Americanism. Glowing references to American participation in the World War and Americans' efforts for peace won warm applause. Wilson's 14 points were described by Ortiz as "bright stars" in world history. Alejandro Lira, president of the Chilean delegation, in order of great power, responded with a poetic address which worked delegates to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Hughes beamed and applauded the speakers. He has some knowledge of Spanish gained through much attendance at international gatherings, and apparently was able to appreciate the high points in the oratory.

A long standing arrangement then was carried out by the election of Judge Antonio de Bustamante, Cuba's most eminent citizen, as president of the conference. Bustamante is a member of the World Court and professor of law in the University of Havana.

The first English words at the conference were spoken when Hughes congratulated Bustamante and proposed him as member ex-officio of all conference committees. The suggestion was approved with enthusiasm.

Rule on Open Sessions.
It soon became evident that the decision of heads of delegations to hold committee sessions in public must be taken with a grain of salt. Orestes Ferrera of the Cuban delegation, who is Cuban Ambassador to Washington, served notice that this decision did not abrogate the rule of previous conferences permitting closed sessions of committees. There was a mild flurry of discussion, but the position taken by Ferrera seemed to be generally approved.

In the course of a debate Dr. Guerrero, Salvadoran delegate, reaffirmed his belief in the open transaction of business. Guerrero previously has come out for candid discussion of such political topics as the United States' Nicaraguan intervention.

If Nicaragua becomes a topic before the conference, Guerrero probably will be the man to bring it up. He is a man of great distinction, his country in numerous diplomatic posts and being now minister of foreign affairs. Guerrero has not attacked the United States, but takes the position that the conference should not ignore political issues.

Hughes Praises Wilson.
Hughes had a second opportunity to speak after the presentation of various resolutions. On behalf of the American delegation and American people he expressed approval of the resolution of the conference in praise of Woodrow Wilson.

He was sure that Mr. Coolidge returned home with warm affection for Cuba. Finally Hughes expressed the pleasure of his delegation at the Bolivian resolution in praise of Woodrow Wilson.

"It is gratifying," he said, "that we commence with the apostles of peace."

Tactful Hughes! The irony of a situation compelling Hughes to associate himself with Wilson's resolution was not lost on North American observers and probably not on Latin delegates either.

among the delegates.
It was believed his presence here would counteract any possibility of controversial or reactionary matters being brought up and any movement against the United States which might be proposed by any Mexican delegate.

Morrow explained he originally accepted the offer to become a member of the conference with the understanding he would not be forced to remain longer than the short time necessary to participate in the organization of the congress and to get his delegation on a favorable footing. He said his departure was not caused by the urgency of the political situation in Mexico, but in fulfillment of the agreement reached when he became a delegate.

American-Mexican cordiality was visibly emphasized in the eyes of delegates when Morrow entertained the United States and Mexican delegates at dinner last night.

All ceremony was definitely behind the conference today and the delegates were bent on immediate consideration of the agenda.

PLAN TO RETAIN ANGLICAN RITES IN CHURCH PACT

British Delegates at Malines

OFFICIAL REPORTS PUBLISHED TODAY

Great Part of English Church Convinced There
Is a Conspiracy to Destroy Reformation.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON,
London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
Copyright, 1928, by the Post-Dispatch and the New York World and Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The official reports of the Anglican and Roman Catholic participants in the reunion "conversations" at Malines, Belgium, published today, confirm the dispatch published in the Post-Dispatch and show that, with the knowledge of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Anglicans agreed to the supremacy of the Pope in a reunited Christian church, provided a sound basis for reunion were found.

While the issuance of these long-suppressed documents does not indicate there is any prospect of further steps toward a reunion at present, it undoubtedly will precipitate immediate attacks by those English churchmen who object to the supremacy of the Pope and in the opinion of those who have been acquainted with the concealed facts, will destroy any chances the Anglicans might have had of getting the revised prayer book through Parliament.

A great part of the English church will be convinced that there is a conspiracy within the church to destroy the work of the Reformation.

Threatens to Disrupt Church.
The recognition of the Papal supremacy by Anglicans and the agreement of the Anglican churchmen with the Roman Catholic formula recognizing the Real Presence in the Eucharist will arouse the most bitter feeling, and the resulting controversy probably will disrupt the Church of England.

In the Malines conversations from 1910 to 1925 Cardinal Mercier was the leading Catholic theologian. For the Anglicans, Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to the Vatican, was the leading spokesman.

At the third meeting, Nov. 7, 1925, a large delegation was present from each side. Dr. Gore and Dr. Kidd were present at the request of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Primacy of Pope Recognized.
Both the Anglican Catholic and the Roman Catholic participants in this occasion, which recognized:

"That the Bishop of Rome is, as St. Augustine said of Pope Innocent the First, 'President of the Western Church'; that he has primacy among all the Bishops of Christendom, so that without communion with him there is in fact no prospect of a reunited Christianity through Gregory our Father who sent us baptism' (Anglo-Saxon Chronicle.)

At the fourth meeting, May 19, 1925, the Catholics were outpointed. The report says of this meeting:

"Our efforts at rapprochement could not have as their end the absorption of the Anglican church by the Latin church, but they imperiously require, in the name alike of Catholic principle and of past history of the Anglican church, the union of the latter with the Roman church. The possibilities of a practical embodiment in some arrangement of these two leading ideas, namely no absorption of the Anglican church in the Roman, and no separation from Rome is deserving of careful study."

"Nor can we imagine that any reunion of Christendom could be effected except on recognition of the primacy of the Pope. But while we think that both the Eastern orthodox and the Anglican churches would be prepared to recognize such primacy, we do not think it likely that they would be ready to define it more closely."

In the report drawn up by the Roman Catholic participants in the conversations, there occurs the following passage, with which, it should be remembered, the Anglicans say they are "in substantial agreement."

Agreement is reached without much difficulty on the following points:

PRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE and Secretary of State Kellogg at Sunday services on the deck of the Battleship Texas, which carried the Presidential party to Havana.

Letters Disclose Victoria Had Ungovernable Temper

British Queen Hated Democracy, Opposed Abolition of Flogging in Army and Persecuted Gladstone.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1928, by the Post-Dispatch and the New York World and Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Jan. 19.—The untrollable temper of Queen Victoria and her hatred of all Liberalism and progress, extending even to official protest against abolition of flogging in the army, is disclosed in the publication today, by permission of King George, of her letters from 1830 to 1855. This series has been continued from the beginning of her reign.

Queen Shows Despondency.
Sometimes in the privacy of her journal, however, Queen Victoria gave way to despondency and self-condemnation, as in 1851 when she wrote only for her own eye to read: "I feel how sadly deficient I am, how over-sensitive and irritable and how uncontrollable my temper is when annoyed and hurt. But I am so overdone, so vexed, and in such distress about my country that that must be my excuse."

The picture disclosed by the correspondence during these years is that of a woman driven to distraction by the democratic tendencies of the times, fighting almost to the point of abdication to keep the old regime and old privileges in power, while through the whole her ceaseless vendetta against Gladstone.

At the third meeting, Nov. 7, 1925, a large delegation was present from each side. Dr. Gore and Dr. Kidd were present at the request of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

CAUSES FRICTION WITH THE BRITISH

By BASIL MANLY,
A Special Correspondent of the WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The trade war declared on the Royal Dutch Shell Co. by Standard Oil of New York is certain to have far-reaching effects on American affairs, both in the field of international relations and domestic politics. It may even play a large part in determining who will be the next President of the United States.

This war, which has just been brought into the open by the public declaration of Standard Oil, has been raging for months. The battle line stretches from Cleveland, O., to Russia, India and China. It is probably the largest and fiercest trade war that has been waged in this country.

On the American side is the Standard Oil Co. of New York, with all its subsidiaries and affiliated corporations, making a group with something like a billion dollars of capital. The trade name for all its products is "Socony." The commanders of the Socony group are Henry C. Folger, chairman of the board, and Herbert L. Pratt, the president. Chairman Folger—a picturesque veteran of the early wars of Standard Oil for supremacy, now 79 years old—is one of the greatest Shakspeare students in the United States and is the possessor of what is said to be one of the finest libraries of books relating to Shakspeare anywhere in the world.

Pratt, son of Charles Pratt, one of Rockefeller's early associates—is regarded in New York financial circles as one of the ablest and most aggressive of American industry executives.

European Group Strong.
On the European side is the great Royal Dutch Shell combination headed by Sir Henri Deterding. Royal Dutch Shell, which is the result of an amalgamation of Dutch and British interests, is the largest of the European oil combines and commands through its subsidiaries and affiliated companies more than a billion of capital. Its great strength in the international field lies in the fact that the British Government is said to be directly interested in its operations and that it has the financial backing of the Bank of England and the Rothschild group.

The war between these two industrial giants is now being waged on three principal fronts—in Russia, China and India. Standard Oil has strongly entrenched itself in Russia, where it has had the field virtually to itself since the British Government broke last year with the Russian soviet republic. Until that time Royal Dutch Shell and Standard Oil had both been buying Russian oil and selling it in the Oriental market.

When Great Britain broke with Russia the soviet authorities retaliated by stopping further sales of the Russian oil to the Royal Dutch Shell group. Sir Henri Deterding then started a newspaper and diplomatic war against Standard Oil, charging it with being the purchaser of "stolen oil" confiscated by the soviet from its rightful owners.

In China the Standard Oil Co. of New York has also had a great advantage over Royal Dutch Shell since the Chinese declared and put in operation their great nationwide boycott against British goods.

Price Cutting in India.
The scene of acute conflict has now shifted to India, where the Royal Dutch Shell Co. has initiated a price-cutting war in an attempt to compel Standard Oil to cease shipping Russian petroleum to the Indian market. Some idea of the immense amounts involved in this struggle may be seen in the statement of Standard Oil that this price-cutting move in India will cost Dutch Shell $13,750,000 a year and the Standard company $4,000,000.

This trade war is already producing increased friction in the relations between the United States and Great Britain.

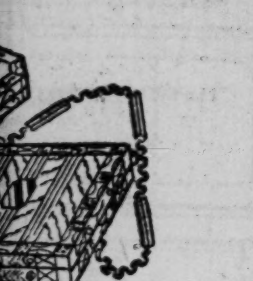

The trade war with all its international complications may easily play a determining part in the selection of the next President of the United States. The oil interests are generally admitted to have dictated the nomination of Warren G. Harding and may well play a similar part in the Kansas City convention in 1928.

Upheaval of Peasants Against Increased Taxes Put Down.
By the Associated Press.
BASRA, Iraq, Jan. 19.—In a peasant uprising at Khuzistan, southwest Persia, 60 of the participants are reported to have been killed by the troops.

The peasants, who are chiefly Arabs, revolted against a new order redoubling their taxation. It is reported also that in the Qashgar district the peasants attacked the Persian officials and occupied the Government offices. The Government is sending reinforcements from Altwat.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 19.—Argentina is having its first hot wave of the summer season, with temperatures of 104 degrees Fahrenheit recorded yesterday and today. Forecasts give little hope of relief.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight denunciations of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Why Should the Proletariat Worry?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HERE you are "viewing with alarm" again!

Why disturb our slumber?

Suppose some boss did buy control of the Laclede Gas Light Co. and organize a holding company at considerable profit to himself?

Why worry even if the control of the controlling company should be sold to a third corporation?

Or get blue in the face if the same thing is done with the Public Service Corporation, and the Union Electric, the Bell Telephone and Kookoo Dam, and if it takes in the whole Dam business, and the chain stores, and department stores, as well as railroad, telegraph and radio?

Or weep salt tears if high finance is applied to filling stations, shoe shine stands and cafeterias? Apartment buildings, airplanes, alcohol and aluminum?

Or say a cross word to your darling should it be the same process of pyramiding is applied to banks, bakeries, baseball, brick and beauty shops?

Or lose faith in America if candy, cement, chewing gum and Christmas cards are superintended?

Coal, coffee and comic supplements, commercial paper and concrete piles—let them all go the way of the Laclede. Let organization go on. Why should the proletariat take a thousand—four have not Billy Sunday, and free concerts on the air, and we can ride all day Sunday on the street cars for a quarter.

We all care to be hired men, and the less we know about who controls the company which controls the company which we made dividends for, the happier we are.

Debs is dead, and Trotsky is in exile; Tom Johnson is forgotten, and Dwight Davis has everything all hunkery for the next war.

So steer away from things that mean nothing in our life. F. P. O'HARE.

Refreshing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT WAS exceedingly refreshing to read your editorial on Jan. 12, entitled "Billyhoo." I read a short time ago that the Rev. Mr. Sunday said that if he were God he would put the devil in a hospital. Most people, I am sure, feel quite certain that Billy could run the world much better than God. Upton Sinclair once said that Billy Sunday is the price the American public has to pay for not educating their ball players.

"The Road to Rome."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE ROAD TO ROME, an excellent light comedy, should not, I believe, be taken seriously either as history or satire. As a satire on war it is decidedly weak. When Amytis told Hannibal that the voice of the shopkeepers of Carthage, rather than the voice of Baal, directed him to destroy Rome, he might have given several answers. He might have reminded her that Carthage was a commercial nation, and that the voice of its shopkeepers was the voice of the people; he might have said that it was then obvious that, unless Carthage destroyed Rome, Rome would destroy Carthage; or he might have cited his vow of eternal enmity. Instead, he succumbed to the rather crude arguments and the advances of Amytis with hardly a murmur.

Even greater liberties are taken with history than with Hannibal's character. At the time when, according to the play, the capitulation of Rome was "a matter of hours," Roman realtors were trying to buy the land on which Hannibal's tents were pitched. They knew, as did Fabius, that Hannibal had no intention of attacking Rome then, and that his march on the city was merely a feint to force the Romans to raise the siege of Capua.

Street Car Passes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Public Service Co. is to be congratulated and greatly commended for real service offered to its patrons through the issue of those Sunday passes. It is a step towards freedom from slavery of transfers. No one will deny that transfers are a nuisance for both passenger and conductor, with their east and west, south and north, up and down, a. m. and p. m. and their very limited time of validity. Transfers are one of the causes of delay in rapid transit especially during rush hours when passengers must wait in line for their punched transfer. It is also disagreeable and humiliating for the honest passenger to see the conductor apply a half dozen holes on a double transfer for fear it may be used on a backwash trip.

Why doesn't the Public Service Co. issue weekly, monthly or even annual passes for those who make frequent use of electric cars? It would eliminate all trouble; it would speed transportation; it would increase the number of patrons; it would be a real service, and it would be, I think, greatly profitable to the Public Service Co. itself. V. P. G.

OUR NEGLECTED SCHOOLHOUSE.

Missouri makes a poor showing in comparison with her neighbor states in the vital matter of education. In 1926 we provided $7,000,000, in round numbers, for our schools, which was 14 per cent of the State's expenditures for all purposes. That is, indeed, paltry in the light of Wisconsin's 44.9 per cent. But we don't have to go to conspicuously progressive Wisconsin to be humbled. Kentucky, Nebraska, Kansas, and even Tennessee, all spend a larger proportion of their revenue on education than Missouri does. In Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan the investments in education are larger than Missouri's, both in amount and percentage.

Those facts are contained in a report by the Associated Industries of Missouri. To scotch the mistaken charge of political animus, the report states that "no single administration, no one political party and no individual is responsible" for those conditions. Responsibility is fixed partly on official negligence, partly on public indifference, but principally on the absence of a system of checking the State's finances.

The people are familiar with the efforts of the Associated Industries to reorganize the State's business. The confusion at Jefferson City because of useless boards and bureaus is shamefully wasting the people's substance. Nobody knows how much money is squandered yearly in the duplication of agencies, unnecessary employees and the extravagance inevitable when a vast enterprise, such as the modern state has become, is operated with no head, no supervision, no central authority, no effective management.

But if nobody knows how much is wasted everybody knows where the money comes from that is wasted. Every penny of it comes from the pockets of the people. The taxpayer is the sole source of supply.

And it is the taxpayer who must put a stop to this orgy of waste. He alone has the power to do it. Organizations like the Associated Industries may investigate, discover appalling conditions, devise ways of correction and submit recommendations to Legislatures and Governors, but it takes the mandate of the people to effect reform.

Just when the people of Missouri will be aroused to action cannot be predicted. The latest report of the Associated Industries is not news. The same conditions were discussed in great detail in a previous report and a plan designed to systematize the State's business, plug the bungholes and put our public affairs on a business basis was submitted to the Legislature. It did not have a chance. The Governor was hostile. The bureaucrats, a legion of them, rallied in opposition. The job-holders swarmed like locusts around the legislators. The bill died.

We shall elect a new Governor and a new Legislature in November. Shall we ask the various candidates how they stand on this question of reorganizing the State's business? Shall we try to elect legislators who are more concerned with saving the taxpayer's money than with perpetuating the lotus eat of Jefferson City? We ought to do this especially in the case of the candidate for Governor. A man of force and capacity in that office could accomplish much. Lowden did a pretty fair job in Illinois, but he is eclipsed by Al Smith's record in New York. Al Smith is a rare phenomena, but we ought to find somebody in Missouri for Governor who has studied this situation, knows what ought to be done and, if elected, will try to do it. With a Governor of that caliber Missouri will no longer trail Tennessee in the matter of providing for our schools.

The riot at Jefferson City is not only plundering the taxpayer, but it is swindling the children of Missouri by the nigardly contribution it does out for education.

Our neglected schoolhouse is a symbol of squandering, plundering, inefficient, battenbury bureaucracy. We, the people of Missouri, are responsible for it, and we're paying for it.

TOM IS OFF IN A CLOUD OF DUST.

Borah was amused. La Follette was indignant. Norris had his say in a long and blistering letter. Some time since Hearst broke down and recanted. A Senate committee, declaring the Mexican documents forgeries, officiated dignifiedly—too dignifiedly—at the internment of the charges. But hold! what is that noise? As you guessed, it is Tom Hefflin's big bass voice bringing up the rear.

"The white-waistcoated gentleman from Alabama has been, from the very beginning of this business, ominously, reverberatingly silent. No one who knows Tom could doubt that he was waiting to get the floor all to himself. Norris, La Follette and Borah are through, but Tom has just started. Yesterday he spoke his mind about Hearst. And that was the first salvo, done pianissimo. According to past performances, the booming crescendo will come not before July 4, with loud, lusty and continuous variations in between.

The roads in Nicaragua are impassable. Hence, the bombing planes.

COMPROMISE.

No one, after reading the hopeful remarks of Bishop William T. Manning of the Episcopal Church on the subject of world-wide church unity, could doubt that the Bishop thinks compromise is one of the cardinal virtues. And, believing this, the prelate can see no reason why all the difficulties which fret the path to unity should not be smoothed out.

Well, if compromise is really the virtue Bishop Manning thinks, nobody else could see any such reason either. But is it actually so grand and glorious? It is supposed to be a great asset to politics and government. Some laudist has even gone so far as to declare that there never was a bad compromise. But political history is strewn with the cadavers of political parties which met death through compromising. The English Tories were most impregnable when they stuck to their convictions and refused to deal with the demands of their opponents. The Liberals of England were a healthy political party until they began to hedge on their fundamental principles of freedom and individualism, and to embrace some of the tenets of the new-fashioned reformers. Perhaps the gradual decline of our own Democratic party might be traced from the moment it started to compromise on the tenets of its founder.

But if compromise is not the virtue in politics it is cracked up to be, is it likely to be much of a virtue in religion? The verdict of history here is the same as nearly everywhere else. It says that the religions which have flourished best are those which refuse to budge. There is something about compromise which makes it appear a sign of weakness, and a lack of belief in one's omnipotence. It may be a great matrimonial virtue, but elsewhere it is hardly to be valued as highly as Bishop Manning seems to think.

MR. MUENCH'S OPINION.

We trust that City Counselor Muench's opinion, handed down yesterday, will end the dark-lantern and back-door methods of amending the zoning ordinance. There is a provision in the law that public hearing must be held on proposed amendments, but Robert J. Kratky, a privileged person around the city hall, has been arguing that the Aldermen had power to pass amendments without advertising hearings. Now comes the City Counselor to insist that the law means what it says.

There is still a way, however, to evade the purpose of the law. The requirement for public hearings may be fulfilled simply by publication in the City Journal. Since most of the interested parties to zoning cases never see the City Journal, Mr. Muench says special notices should be sent to property owners likely to be affected. The Aldermen should see that this is done before passing any amendments.

Citizens should bear in mind, in applying for zoning amendments, that it is not necessary to pay an attorney a large fee. As pointed out in the recent report of an aldermanic investigating committee, applications may be filed with the clerk of the aldermanic board free of charge.

WHO PAYS THE RENT?

Is it possible that the opponents of gambling dens and fortune-telling establishments, which thrive openly in Wellston, St. Louis County, have been deluded and mistaken? They have thought that these were vicious influences, preying on a class of people who could least afford the inevitable loss in cash and peace of mind. But hark to the expert testimony of H. B. Surkamp, Wellston realtor.

If the gamblers and fortune tellers were driven from that busy, unincorporated suburban community just beyond the St. Louis limits, he declared in a court action the other day, real estate values in general there would decline 10 to 15 per cent and property owners would be lucky to get half as much rentals as at present. So perhaps there should be no fight on the mystics and on the jacks of the dice and roulette wheels.

However, Expert Surkamp can hardly be more than half right. Quite likely, if the gentry mentioned were driven out tonight, rents and values would be at low ebb in Wellston tomorrow. Nevertheless, if Wellston has any excuse for existence it would survive and prosper without the tinkling of the spirits of another world or the rattle of coin on felt. Other law-abiding suburbs do.

The public value of the Surkamp testimony lies in the attention it calls to the contrast in law enforcement. St. Louis has an ordinance against fortune tellers. The State has a statute against gambling. There is no public fortune telling and gambling in the city. There are plenty of these things in St. Louis County, not alone in Wellston. Some day, it is to be hoped, the decent people of the county will wake-up to this and rid themselves of the twin evils that are able to pay high rents.

MICHIGAN HAS FUNCTIONED.

Less than a week after his capture, Hotelling is in Marquette penitentiary serving a life sentence for the murder of 5-year-old Dorothy Schneider. Yesterday the confessed slayer pleaded guilty, sentence was pronounced and Hotelling left under heavy guard. Could anything be more sensible than the speedy conclusion of this case? We congratulate the Michigan authorities.

From the outset, the case was conducted with courage and decision. By deviant methods, Hotelling was protected from threatening mobs which stormed the jail and demanded that he be given up. His confession made and his guilt established beyond doubt, no time was given to inject false issues into the trial or to aid the exploitation of sensation-mongers.

Michigan has set an example for the handling of such hideous affairs.

THE BOLIVIAN POT BOILS AGAIN.

Down in Bolivia, another attempt at revolution has been scotched, and 16 Deputies and Senators and an army Captain are under arrest. The powers that still remain on top in La Paz state that all is peace and quietude again in the republic.

But it is unlikely that they are sleeping either peacefully or quietly these days. For they know that the Bolivian pot, having begun to boil twice already, may boil over at any time. They know that the causes for revolt in their country are long-standing, and that these causes have reached a point where an explosion is inevitable. Bolivia, so the outside world has repeatedly been informed, presents a spectacle of exploitation to defy the imaginative powers of even the most fanciful privilege of other countries. Nine-tenths of the people are being mercilessly ground beneath the heels of the remaining tenth, composed of plutocrats, bureaucrats and their lackeys. To think, therefore, that revolution might be avoided would be to display ignorance of both history and the spirit of the times.

So the world is watching another revolution in the making. All that is needed is a man on horseback, that essential of all popular uprisings, that figure so dear to the Latin heart. When that man of the hour, that Bolivar or Juarez, proclaims himself, the overflow from the Bolivian pot will wash the nation's exploiters into the sea.

SOUTH CAROLINA DECLINES.

An antievolution bill, modeled after the famous Tennessee monkey law, was killed yesterday by the South Carolina House of Representatives. South Carolina, apparently, does not care to descend to medievalism, in other words, to be listed with Tennessee and Mississippi. Political fundamentalists have been making a hard drive throughout the country to legislate Lamarck, Darwin, Huxley out of existence, but it is tough sledding. The era of bootleg knowledge, it would seem, is not yet upon us.

PAEAN OF WANDERLUST.

Sing a song of highways leading off afar; rhythm of the heavens, tree and earth and car; madrigal of motor, wheel and wind and man, living life the fullest mortal ever can.

Tell about Missouri's Ozark hills and streams, brag about the beauties of its rugged scenery; stress the glory fleetness of its rugged deer, dream about its pretty tilt dreaming brings a tear.

Speed on o'er the concrete and the gravel curves, where the haze is bluest—cure for jangled nerves; tarry in the timber, fold a crystal brook, watch the sunrise splendor, gaze on moonlit nook.

Sing us not of airways—they've grown workaday; Praise for us the State routes on enchantment's way, and the lanes of backwoods, green and brown—amass. . . . Oh, to be a spy—'Fill 'er up with gas!'

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

ONE MAN'S OPINION.

T. E. R. in the New Republic.

THE utter inability of the opposition to find any other figure not obviously absurd, around whom to rally, is the surest indication of the force of the Smith candidacy. The Jim Reed activity, which I understand will come to a climax this week in the opening of headquarters at the Mayflower during the committee meeting, means exactly nothing. I am far from being convinced that Reed himself has any serious notion that he could get the nomination—or that he wants it. Notwithstanding the extraordinary lack of clarity with which men who dream presidential dreams see themselves, I am disposed to believe that all there is to the Reed candidacy is the sardonic satisfaction Jim will personally derive from having the State of Missouri, which in 1920 and 1924 repudiated and rejected him, present him as its favorite son in 1928. I have reason to believe that Mr. Reed made up his mind not to run again for the Senate at least three years ago—about the time, for example, that Oscar Underwood made up his—and that his presidential candidacy had nothing whatever to do with the decision. The plain fact is that there is vastly more hostility to his presidential aspirations, among Democrats, than friendliness. There is in the country no real Reed sentiment, and, as a more or less intermittent admirer of his, I should like to see him laboring under the delusion that such sentiment existed.

OUR SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

From World's Work for January.

IN South America our exporters are selling a hundred millions dollars' worth of goods a year more than are England, Germany and France combined. Two-thirds of the exports from the United States to South America are manufactured goods. American exporters have captured the South American market during the abnormal years of European recovery. The time is approaching when nations of the Old World will be ready to make a stronger competitive effort. Europe's handicap lies in the fact that the character of industry has been revolutionized in a way that destroys the competitive advantage of cheap labor. Machinery, under the technique of mass production, gives America its leadership in manufacture. Europe will be unable to compete in mass production until it takes the standard of living so that it, too, can support mass production with mass consumption in the home market.

COMING BATTLE OF THE MOVIES.

From the New York World.

TO the State Department's list of troubles it is reported that a moving picture problem may be added shortly. France threatens to enact a law which American moving picture men regard as unfair to their interests. Should this law be recommended by the Herriot commission, which meets this week, it is reported that the American producers and the American theater owners in France will ask the State Department to file a protest.

The trouble seems to be that American movies sell much better in France than French movies, and that French producers do not like this fact. Furthermore, there is very little market for French movies in this country, which makes the displeasure of the French producers even keener.

PURITANISM GONE TO SEED.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

RELIGIOUS women in Chicago who canceled the lecture engagement of Britain's greatest woman evangelist, Agnes Maude Royden, are said to have done so because they heard she occasionally smoked a cigarette, but they make no frank statement of their feeling. Religious women of Boston, who arranged a like cancellation, are said to have heard that Miss Royden had favored "companionate marriage." They also let concealment, like a worm in the bud, feed on their damask cheeks. Straightforwardness is a discomfiter.

The evangelist neither denies nor apologizes for the smoking. Half a dozen prominent clergymen in London view the issue with amusement. Father Francis Woodcock queries, "Why shouldn't Miss Royden smoke a cigarette?" The Rev. John Scott Lidgett, Wesleyan, who was president of the Free Church Commission in 1915, declares: "Of course, it is not improper" for women preachers to smoke. It isn't a religious question at all. And the Rev. Sir James Marchant, one of the most noted social reform workers in Britain, a Presbyterian, blurts out: "The American attitude is ridiculous. It is bringing religion into disrepute and holding it up to the contempt of the world." As for the "companionate marriage" allegation, Bishop Charles L. Slatery of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts gives out a letter from the Archbishop of Canterbury acquitting Miss Royden of any advocacy of such marriage.

Frankly, Puritanism goes to seed. Lost to spiritual values, is about as amusing as anything in all modern civilization. If it makes America a laughing stock for older lands, calm-minded persons here can only grin and bear it. As the late Artemus Ward said, "Bearing it is easy enough, because you have to, but the grinning comes hard."

MELTING POT STILL MELTS.

ROSE C. FELD in the Century Magazine.

ONE does not have to stop at New York or at national figures to show the continual march of progress of immigrant blood and to prove that the doors of opportunity are still open wide. Every part of the country and for the "companionate marriage" proof that the sons of immigrants are several steps ahead of their fathers, socially and industrially.

In the Connellville mining district, which takes in several towns in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, with populations made up of Russian, Hungarian, Czech, Italian, generously sprinkled among the Americans of older backgrounds, you can see this growth concretely.

Many of the sons of the immigrant have entered the professions. One, the son of a Slav immigrant, educated himself at the public schools of his State—elementary, secondary and university—and is today the principal of a high school where children of later immigrants are learning that there is no fixed stamp population in America.

JUST A MINUTE

LIFE'S MAJOR ANNOYANCE.

I have read all the wisdom that Schopenhauer wrote on the problem of noise. But no din that has smitten my ears has ever been the cause of lost sleep. I can lie, unperturbed, as the rattle and roar of the cars in the street.

And I find the air hammer at work on rivets makes melody sweet;

In the civilized noises that mortals make, I can find naught to fear.

Be the noise what it may, it affects me not, for my thoughts will stay clear.

There is only one sound that a human creature would dread to hear—

When the lyric soprano's at practice, the boys in the neighborhood air.

There is music that's sweet in the sound, the waves as they break on the shore.

There is music that awes with a sense of its might in the cannon's loud roar.

But when lyrics soprano's at practice, the boys in the neighborhood air.

That the music must spread to all ears, tried ears that in earshot reside.

It would not be so bad if the noise we endure were that screech all alone.

We must also put up with the din of the boys who to mimic are prone;

Were I given my choice in the matter, sooner I'd choose to be flayed.

When the lyric soprano's at practice, the boys in the neighborhood air.

Speak easy: A public telephone.

At that, companionate marriage alone them to remain boss in their own households.

American justice is celebrated for its spectacular approach, but the follow-through frequently is nothing short of terrible.

The only drawback to some settled arguments is that one of the parties lays matter aside for future reference.

FABLE.

Once upon a time, 1928 (or any other year) was not to be the best year in the history of building automobiles, airplanes or elimination contests.

The study of insanity is a science, and in court it becomes an art.

Add similar: As inconspicuous as mentioned favorably for the vice presidency.

Writers of formless verse evidently have that what you say is not so important as how you say it.

Statistical Note.

When heredity is the subject of the conversation, it is being discussed as an art, not as a science.

We suppose the automobile industry has not reached the saturation point yet, for there are a sufficient number of cars for all the passengers.

And there are times when the speed of a train is much to be said on the sides of this question, and the therefore is devoted to a less controversial issue.

MENCKENIANA: A Schimpfkon. (Knopf.)

THERE was once an ambitious gentleman of Ephesus who, casting about for some means of attaining great fame, hit upon the ingenious idea of burning the Temple of Diana. He did so.

The Ephesians, who, apparently were not the best of psychologists, put the gentleman to death, and passed a decree that his name should never be spoken. But this day, 2333 years after the event, the proper adjective, Heratralic, preserves the memory of an ancient vanity. Truly the ancient Ephesians might have anticipated the Horatian prophecy.

It may be that some or even of the Temple of Diana needed be burned; but even so, it does appear that Heratralic was at least concerned with that phase of affairs; and unless crowds of men changed greatly in character, the Ephesians, who, apparently have builded a monument enduring than brass and not tooth of time or the tongue of shall destroy it."

How the foregoing may be piled, if at all, to the circumstances surrounding the book here noted must be left to each reader to decide according to his taste and temperament.

"Schimpfkon," it may be noted, signifies "dictionary abuse," and here we have a rosentative collection of vocabulary; that have been written at H. I. Mencken. It is doubtful any other living human being has been verbally bastinadoed, whipped, drawn and quartered, burned at the stake and hanged more often than has this annual Journalist of Baltimore. It appears that the book, if any, is on a t e righteously indignant, it is of just such granite and bro that Ephesian monuments wrought, whereas silence is fatal condemnation.

It is easy to imagine one of Mencken's temperaments preparing this anthology of purple wrath with great gusto—as well he might for there is something very fun about a man who gets blue in the face with anger. Here are a of the epithet employed: waa, maggot, buzzard, jackal, mahyena, vermin, microbe, manape, manzy moulter.

Very often some earnest paltering with fire, plays into the hands of the Mencken with some such statement as Mencken is a rank materialist.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 19.

The Courier-Journal today said that a signed copy of Gen. Robert E. Lee's farewell address to soldiers, valued at $35,000, had been found here in possession of an attorney.

The lawyer, the Courier-Journal says, recently showed the manuscript to experts of the Library Congress, who declared it to rank as one of America's invaluable documents, fit to be preserved with the original of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

The penmanship of the document is that of Col. Charles Marshall, Robert E. Lee's secretary, according to the newspaper's account. The manuscript is in the possession of the Congressional Library.

The several army corps skeletons of which still etched under Lee at Appomattox, each quired an original copy of the general's order, it was recounted. Marshall wrote them and the commander of the army of North Virginia signed them.

Other Copies May Exist.

Supposedly, therefore, all copies of the farewell message should exist, but library officials could find mention of only two of them asserted neither had been produced or published. The manuscript here will be loaned to the Congressional Library for display to the Courier-Journal says.

The Louisville manuscript read: "Hdqrs. Army Northern Va., April 10, 1865."

Genl. Order No. 3.

After four years of arduous action, marked by unsurpassed courage and fortitude, the army of Northern Virginia has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources.

I need not tell the brave soldiers of so many hard fought battles who have remained steadfast to the last, that I have consented to the result from no distrust of them.

But feeling that valor and devotion could accomplish nothing, the would compensate for the loss of the battle, I have consented to the result from no distrust of them.

Without wishing to diminish the value of their sacrifice, I have felt it my duty to accept the necessities of the war.

I have no objection to your returning to your homes and remain until exchanged. You will take with you the assurance that proceeds from the commander of the army of Northern Virginia, and I earnestly pray for your success.

By the terms of the agreement, officers and men can return to their homes and remain until exchanged. You will take with you the assurance that proceeds from the commander of the army of Northern Virginia, and I earnestly pray for your success.

FLYERS FORCED DOWN AFTER 50 HOURS IN AIR

Fuel Supply of Monoplane Exhausted Within 2 1-2 Hours of Record.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, British aviator, and Lieut. George R. Pond, U. S. N., today failed in their attempt to break the world's endurance record when their monoplane, Spirit of California, was forced down at 10:18 a. m. Pacific coast time, after their gasoline supply was exhausted. They had been in the air 50 hours and 7 minutes.

The fuel gave out due to the extremely cold weather over the California coast region, Lieut. Pond said. Low temperatures, from cold winds off the snow capped Sierras, compelled the pilots to work their engine harder than they would have done in higher temperatures.

The Spirit of California flew up and down the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys in search of warmer, and smoother air currents where the gasoline supply might have been conserved.

With 50 gallons more gasoline the flyers said they could have easily gone the two hours, 15 minutes and 31 seconds more needed to equal the world's record and probably could have beaten it by the required hour.

The flyers spent the night taking turns at the controls. Their radio messages spoke of a struggle against the bitter cold encountered at altitudes of from 1500 to 2000 feet. High winds had torn away the side curtains of the plane, leaving the pilots exposed to the blasts but they declared they were determined to stay up until their last drop of gasoline had been exhausted.

They also reported their starboard generator, used to supply electric light and operate the radio sending apparatus, had jammed. This, the flyers said, would necessitate cutting down the lights and holding their radio messages to a minimum.

The plane took off from Mills

Field here at 8:09 a. m. Tuesday, with 1535 gallons of fuel, intending to remain in the air at least until 1:31:31 p. m. today, the time necessary to break the record set last summer by two German aviators. The Germans remained aloft 52 hours 22 minutes and 31 seconds.

The very FIRST dose of Adierka often brings out astonishing amount of old waste matter from the intestinal canal. This poisonous mass may have been in the intestines long time, causing gas, headache, sleeplessness and many other symptoms. A treatment of a few doses with Adierka often corrects chronic constipation and intestinal stasis that just a small dose, now and then, keeps the intestines and stomach in most satisfactory condition.

56 Years Old and Eats Fried Onions, Pie--Anything

VERY FEW over forty can eat heartily of fried food or pie and not suffer afterward from indigestion or stomach gas. But read what this Pittsburgh man of 56 says:

"Awful bloating from stomach gas and dyspepsia caused me tortures and made sleep impossible. Then I read about Adlerika in the Pittsburgh Press and got a bottle. It helped me right away and in a year and a half it has worked a miracle. Now at 56 I eat almost everything. Such things as fried potatoes or onions and pie agree with me fine. I enjoy life and am happy again."—Thos. J. Herbst, Pittsburgh, Pa.

What Doctors Say

Dr. H. L. SHOUR, D. Sc., well-known New York pathologist, after laboratory tests on living subjects, states: "Adlerika very markedly reduces the number of bacteria and colon bacilli. This feature increases the therapeutic value of Adlerika, because, in addition to its intestinal cleansing action, it inhibits the growth of these intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. J. Lancaster, a physician of over a quarter century's active experience, makes this statement: "In the treatment of gastro-intestinal disorders, (where thorough evacuation is indicated), Adlerika has no equal." Dr. Carl Weschke, a graduate of the world-famous medical University of Heidelberg, Germany, in his private practice, first perfected the intestinal cleanser and carminative now known as Adlerika. It is a compound of a specially processed saline intestinal evacuant with buckthorn and cascara, together with glycerine and other ingredients which expel gas and have detergent action.

Adlerika, unlike most other medicines, acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowels. It is recognized by many physicians as the one dependable remedy for gas, intestinal stasis and chronic constipation, or whenever real intestinal cleansing is needed. Even if your bowels move every day, Adlerika may surprise you by bringing out poisonous, gas-forming matter which you would never believe was in your system.

OPPOSES ARMY PLAN FOR FLOOD CONTROL

Representative Denison of Illinois Tells Committee Only Congress Can Fix Payments.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Congress also has the right to formulate the method for financing the Mississippi Valley flood control program, and not the Army engineers, in the opinion of Representative Denison (Rep.) of Illinois. Expressing his views today before the House Flood Control Committee, the Illinoisan declared that he favored the engineering features of the control plan, but was opposed to the recommendation for participation of the Valley States in the cost.

The establishment of national forests on the watersheds of the Mississippi tributaries was urged by E. A. Sherman, associate United States forester. He said that the "land" of North and South Dakota and the semi-arid prairies of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico and Texas, could be planted with trees and that these forests would retard much of the flood water from flowing into the tributaries.

A new flood plan, calling for control of the four principal tributaries of the Mississippi River by the Federal Government, and for a commission composed of four Cabinet members, was added to the many proposals on the subject before Congress in a bill introduced yesterday by Representative Howard (Dem.) of Oklahoma.

The tributaries, the Arkansas, Missouri, Ohio and Red Rivers, would be supervised by a commission of the secretaries of agriculture, commerce, interior and war, together with a prominent civilian engineer. The measure provides a $10,000,000 appropriation for the work.

At the hearing of the House flood control committee, the American Federation of Labor, through Edgar Wallace, one of its legislative representatives, presented the view that the control of the nation's rivers was a Federal Government responsibility.

Surgeon General Cumming, another witness, described the health prevention work during last spring's disaster in the Mississippi valley, saying that it cost the nation nearly $1,000,000. He declared that conditions necessitate the continuation of the work for another year.

BRITAIN HITS GENERAL SECURITY PACT PLAN

Note to League Calls for Regional Understandings Like Locarno Treaty.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 19.—A British note to the League of Nations on security and arbitration, made public by the Foreign Office, deprecates all-around agreements for arbitration of disputes, but favors regional pacts such as the Locarno treaty.

The principles enunciated by the memorandum follow recent declarations at Geneva by Sir Austin Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, and Lord Cushendun, British delegate to the League.

Arbitration treaties, the document adds, "have no sanction behind them, but the force of public opinion in the world at large."

"Any arbitration award which a party to the dispute resolutely refused to execute," it continues, "would not merely fail to settle the dispute—it would prejudice any movement in favor of arbitration."

The memorandum considers it impossible that any nation strong enough to use force effectively would at present undertake an obligation to use force against either party to a dispute which failed to submit to arbitration or failed to accept and comply with an award.

An arbitration treaty which goes beyond what the public opinion of a country will support, when that country's interests are concerned, and when the decision is unfavorable to those interests, useless.

Britain holds, and by embittering the relations between the States involved, would result in a setback to a movement for pacific settlements.

Sweden Proposes Collective Treaty Based on Arbitral Tribunal.
GENEVA, Jan. 19.—With Great Britain urgently advocating more agreements along the lines of the Locarno pact, security has become a topic of discussion. Sweden, like Britain, has forwarded to the League of Nations her ideas on the subject.

The Stockholm Government has submitted the draft text of a collective agreement of conciliation and arbitration based on the principles of the Locarno agreements. In the Swedish draft, the World Court of Justice, or some other arbitral tribunal, plays a leading role, and if arbitral tribunals fail to achieve their purpose, disputes would go to the League Council, as provided in the Locarno pact.

The British memorandum, which frankly voiced Great Britain's unwillingness to accept more extended international obligations than those provided for in the Locarno pact, has created a good impression, as indicating Britain's disposition to help, nevertheless, whenever possible, in building up security as a basis for the reduction of armaments.

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit-forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic purges and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years, he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without gripping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. B. Caldwell, M.D.
AT AGE 83

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit-forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic purges and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years, he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without gripping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for your-

WOULD STOP ALL-NIGHT PARKING ON STREETS

Aldermanic Committee Votes Favorable Report on Ordinance.

Favorable report on a proposed ordinance designed to prevent habitual all-night storage of automobiles on the streets was voted yesterday by the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen, after a somewhat jocular debate on the practice. Alderman Wimer, who introduced the measure, wanted to prohibit parking everywhere in the city between 2 and 5 a. m.

The committee, however, amended the bill to cover one hour, 4 to 5 a. m., and to exempt vehicles parked during that period for one night only. Those parking then for two or more consecutive nights would violate the ordinance. Exceptions also would be made in emergency cases and where alleys are not paved.

Wimer asserted that 5000 automobiles are parked all night in St. Louis, especially in apartment house districts, and that some show no lights while others encroach upon sidewalks. He declared that cars stay out over night in front of one 16-family apartment which has garage space for 12 machines but houses only four.

PAULINO DROPPED FROM LIST OF HEAVY CONTENDERS BY RICKARD

PROMOTER WILL NAME TUNNEY'S NEXT FOE FEB. 1

Heeney Fails to Agree to Match With Jack Delaney for March 1—Sharkey May Box Risko.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Tex Rickard was on his way south today to pick a "logical" opponent for Gene Tunney.

The promoter left New York last night for Miami, Fla., where he plans to spend four weeks with the heavyweight champion, at golf and conferences.

On Feb. 1, Rickard will post $100,000 to bind an option on Tunney's services for 1928 and around the same date he thinks he will have decided who, among the present crop of contenders, will get the next opportunity to knock the crown from the big marine's head.

Rickard caught his train last night immediately after a long and fruitless conference with the managers of Jack Delaney and Tom Heeney, whom he hoped to match in a 15-round elimination bout at Madison Square Garden March 1. Delaney was willing, but Charley Harvey, manager of the New Zealander, admitted he wasn't keen about it and accompanied this expression of opinion with a demand for 25 percent of the gate.

That broke up the conference. Rickard, leaving the solution of the tangled situation to John M. Chapman, "Czar" of the 6-day bicycle race game, and newly elected assistant general manager of the Garden, March 12.

Sharkey-Risko Go Planned.

Efforts now are to be made to match Jack Sharkey, who lost some prestige in his draw battle with Heeney last week, against Johnny Risko, of Cleveland. The latter makes a specialty of taking the logic out of "logical" contenders. This match, if it goes through, will be a 15-round affair at the Garden, March 12.

Paulino Uzcudun, Rickard disclosed, no longer is being considered in the plans for developing an outstanding challenger for the heavyweight title. The Spaniard, incidentally, leaves soon for Mexico City, where he fights Quintin Romero, the Chilean, Jan. 20. Next month Paulino meets George Godfrey, giant Negro, in a bout at Los Angeles.

STILLMAN TO MEET POWERS ON MOTORBUS FIGHT CARD, JAN. 25

AI Stillman of the People's Motorbus A. C. Western A. A. U. junior middleweight champion, has been matched with Frank Powers of the South Broadway A. C. contender for the feature of the boxing tournament to be staged by the Motorbus club at the Armory, Grand and Market, on Wednesday, Jan. 25.

Powers' ability has held the championship for him for five consecutive years. Three were in the welterweight class, before he grew into a middleweight.

Stillman met Powers once before and lost to him, but at that time he had had only two fights, while Powers had had four years of ring experience. Stillman since has developed a punch, as is shown by the fact that four of his last five opponents have lost on knockouts. Stillman also won the decision in the fifth bout.

With two other feature bouts, as yet unannounced, and a goodly number of entries in the preliminary classes, at least nine bouts are assured on the program.

FRANCIS APPEBY IS WINNER IN AMATEUR 18.2 BALKLINE EVENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Francis S. Appley gained his first leg on the Metropolitan Challenge Cup at 18.2 balkingline billiards by defeating his brother, Edgar T. Appley, who has three legs on the trophy. The score was 300 to 269.

The trophy is presented by the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players.

PETE LATZO, FORMER WELTER KING, JOINS LIGHT HEAVY RANKS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 19.—Pete Latzo, former world's welterweight champion who now lives in Margate City, has become a light-heavyweight.

Last summer Pete weighed 147 pounds for his title bout with Joe Dundee of Baltimore, and lost, 10 to 11 tips the scales at 172 pounds.

"I'm going after the light-heavyweight crown now," he says.

C. B. C. BEATS CODASCO IN SOCCER GAME, 3-0

The Country Day School soccer football team was blanked by the Christian Brothers College eleven, yesterday afternoon, in a Preparatory League championship game, score 3 to 0.

C. B. C.'s players showed greater familiarity with the game, which has been newly adopted as a major sport of the "prep" organization.

Today's scheduled game between the St. Louis University High School team and the Chamaine players has been postponed on account of wet grounds, according to Referee Roche.

Destroyed After Accident

BLACK GOLD.

Black Gold, 1924 Derby Winner, Destroyed After Accident at New Orleans

Attempted "Comeback" of Gr eat Little Horse Ends When He Takes Faulty Stride in Running of Salome Purse and Suffers Fractured Foreleg.

By the Associated Press. TULSA, Ok., Jan. 19.—The death at New Orleans of Black Gold, sensation of race tracks in 1924, when he won the Kentucky Derby and three other major turf events, has ended the game attempt of another champion to stage a comeback after retirement to a life of ease.

Reports of the ebony thoroughbred's efforts to finish the race at New Orleans after breaking a leg in a fall in front of the judge's stand, recalled the characteristics shown in his training here. His effort to repeat the victories of his youth was in line with the ambitious program outlined for him by Al Hoots, veteran Oklahoma turfman, who died before the colt was born.

Failed in the Bradley Stud in Kentucky, Black Gold inherited the speed of his mother Uscit, along with the stout heart and laying qualities of his father, Black Toney. It was the hope of Hoots that the colt would uphold the honors won by his mother before she was ruled off the turf.

Won 1924 Kentucky Derby.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Hoots trained Black Gold. In 1923 the colt proved his mettle in events for 2-year-olds. The next year he clinched a successful season by winning the Kentucky Derby.

Black Gold then was placed in the stud by his Indian trainer, Handley Webb. There he remained until November last, when Mrs. Hoots consented to allow him to try for a comeback. He was entered in four events. The fatal race yesterday was planned as the last of the conditioning series.

The accident to Black Gold came in the running of the Salome purse, fifth on the New Orleans program. He had raced forwardly almost to the time he took the faulty stride which caused his leg to snap. Jockey Emery escaped uninjured.

Won Four Derbies.

Black Gold, 7-year-olds son of Black Toney-Uscit, by Bonnie Joe, started his career at New Orleans as a 2-year-old in 1923.

OLYMPIC HOCKEY BODY FAILS TO APPROVE TEAM

United States Probably Will Not Be Represented at Games as Result—Haddock Favors Augsburg College.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The United States apparently will enter no team in the Olympic hockey competition at St. Moritz, Switzerland, this year.

This, most observers agreed, was the practical effect of the American Olympic Committee's action yesterday in declining to approve the selection of the Augsburg College team of Minneapolis to carry this country's colors in the Olympics on the ground that it was not sufficiently representative.

The Augsburg team, it was pointed out, was chosen only after William S. Haddock of Pittsburgh, chairman of the Olympic Hockey Committee, had met with numerous refusals from other aggregations to which invitations to compete had been extended. It was doubted that Haddock could get together a representative team on such short notice. The United States squad, had one been selected that met with the Olympic Committee's approval would have sailed Jan. 25.

There were indications, however, that both Haddock and the Augsburg team would make strenuous efforts to influence the committee's decision in actual competition. In the meantime, they said, they would continue their work in raising funds to defray half the team's expenses for the trip abroad.

Augsburg athletic authorities at Minneapolis announced they would ask the Olympic Committee for an opportunity to demonstrate their team's merits in actual competition. In the meantime, they said, they would continue their work in raising funds to defray half the team's expenses for the trip abroad.

Local Stars in Squash Events

University Club Players to Bid for National and Western Titles.

The University Club will be represented in three major squash tennis events during February and March, according to an announcement today of Roland Hoerr, Western representative of the national association.

One of the club's best players will be entered in the national squash tennis tournament at the Princeton Club courts in New York, which will be held during the week of March 2. The representatives will be selected after a series of matches at the club, but it is likely that "Ham" Farish, club and city champion of squash tennis, Jack Gordon, who holds similar laurels in the squash racket, and Paul Gosseling, who was the defeated finalist in the recent tournaments at the club, will be the leading candidates for the positions.

On Feb. 4 and 5, a University Club team of about five or six players will be sent to Cincinnati to meet a team there in a special match, and on Feb. 17, 18 and 19, about a dozen players will enter in the Western Amateur tournament at Omaha.

The University Club has held the Western team championship for the past two years, but Gordon was defeated in the finals last year by George Stocking, present singles champion.

The St. Louis man then took the sixteenth and had to fight for a half on the eighteenth to pull out the victory.

Smoke Abatement.

Dear Mr. Davis: I read your poem in yesterday's Post-Dispatch regarding smoke abatement. Although I know you are broad minded and like to have your joke, I do not think your statement was very fair considering the good that has been done towards abating smoke. Your article tends to discredit the efforts of the men who are doing their utmost to cut down the smoke in St. Louis.

I have prepared a short poem in retaliation which I hope you will be good enough to print in your column. It will dispel some of the rumors that soft coal cannot be burned without making a heavy smoke.

READ with a frown
If the fire you wrote down
Regarding the soft-coal smoker;
And as far as I know,
The statistics should show
That you're not all there as a joker.

Soft coal will not smoke
If the fire you don't choke,
And the house you can heat easily.

The smoke abatement men
Will show you how to begin,
And you can burn your coal
SMOKELESSLY.

Soft coal can be burned with very little if any smoke and it is the impression that it can't that is causing our city to be so smoky.

The Citizens' Smoke Abatement League is out to correct this impression.

Very truly yours,
HENRY VAWTER.

ROSSMAN, OLD-TIME TIGER STAR, IS DEAD

By the Associated Press. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Claude Rossman, 46, old-time star of the Detroit Tigers when they were American League champions under Hugh Jennings, is dead in the Hudson River Hospital, where he had been a patient for several years.

Rossman's career in baseball included play with Des Moines of the Western League, and Cleveland. Before he went to Detroit where he gained fame both as first baseman and hitter with Cobb and his crew. Later he played with Minneapolis in the American Association.

Milburn said the 1927 match marked the close of his international polo career, but that he expected to continue to compete in other tournaments.

Some observers expected Milburn's retirement would be followed by similar decisions by Malcolm Stevenson and J. Watson Webb, other members of the "H" team. This would leave Tommy Hitchcock as the sole remaining member of the international team. The task then would be to develop a new combination around Hitchcock, who now rates as one of the country's finest stars.

MILBURN FACED BRITISH TEAM FIRST IN SERIES OF 1909

Veteran, Now 49 Years of Age, Was Generally Regarded as "Greatest Player of All Time."

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Dewey Milburn, rated by many experts as the greatest polo player of all time, has decided to retire from international competition.

A dominant figure on every American "Big Four" since 1909, Milburn will be 49 years old when the next international matches are around and "that's too old for international competition," he says.

He objects to the use of the word "retire" in connection with this decision on the ground that "it's neither important nor does it sound right for me to get up and publicly announce: 'I hereby retire.'"

"But I'm not going to play any more international polo," he added. "I've made up my mind to that."

Must Develop Youngsters.

It is not alone his age which caused Milburn to reach this decision. He believes the time has come when the younger players "should take over the responsibility" and the business and the work of international polo.

Pointing to Bobby Strawbridge and Winston Guest as examples, Milburn said, he felt these rising young stars should get ready to step into the veterans' places. "Coming from a family of polo players, Milburn learned the game at Buffalo, N. Y., at an early age. Sent to Oxford in 1923, he played with the university's team until 1924 when he returned to America to attend Harvard law school. He transferred his polo activities to the Myopia Club, near Boston, and was a member of the team that won the senior championship in 1924. Graduating from Harvard in 1927, Milburn became a member of the Meadowbrook Club.

Played on Many Teams.

His baptism under international polo fire came two years later when he played with the first American team to win the International cup. He was on the American team that successfully defended the trophy in 1911 and 1912, as well as on the 1914 squad which lost it to Great Britain. He was captain and back of the team which recaptured the cup in 1915 and repelled the British challenge in September.

Milburn said the 1927 match marked the close of his international polo career, but that he expected to continue to compete in other tournaments.

Some observers expected Milburn's retirement would be followed by similar decisions by Malcolm Stevenson and J. Watson Webb, other members of the "H" team. This is Mr. Eismar, the gentleman who is interested in educating me. I never think of calling him by his first name, if I call him anything at all, I call him "Daddy," and not even that if the place is public. Mr. Eismar has always had something interesting to talk about; for instance the last time he was here he gave me quite a nice emerald bracelet. Mr. Eismar and Dorothy and I want to meet all you nice people. Please come and see us.

CHARGES BOOTLEG RING PAYS FINES ON THE EAST SIDE

U. S. Attorney Tells Federal Court at East St. Louis That Syndicate Operates Still.

District Attorney Baker in Federal Court at East St. Louis today charged that a huge bootlegging corporation existed on the East Side to operate stills, pay fines of liquor law violators, and to compensate them for time spent in jail. Five cases in which the hand of the corporation was apparent have come to his attention, Baker told Federal Judge Whann. He said he had affidavits to prove the existence of the corporation. Beyond that, he did not reveal what additional information he might have. Baker made his statement after Henry Vogt, a farmer of Centerville Township, pleaded guilty to a charge of having a still on his farm, eight miles southeast of East St. Louis. Vogt told Judge Whann he was paid by bootleggers whom he did not know for the privilege of operating the still on his farm. The operators of the still, Vogt said, were secretive above their identity and let themselves be known only by their first names. Vogt, the father of seven children, was fined $700. His farm was raided early in December and 30,000 gallons of mash were seized. He said his farm was worth $17,000.

ROADHOUSE MAN CONVICTED OF POSSESSING STOLEN GOODS

Jake Thomann, convicted by jury in Federal Court, charged with interstate freight, pleaded guilty to a charge of having a still on his farm, eight miles southeast of East St. Louis. Vogt told Judge Whann he was paid by bootleggers whom he did not know for the privilege of operating the still on his farm. The operators of the still, Vogt said, were secretive above their identity and let themselves be known only by their first names. Vogt, the father of seven children, was fined $700. His farm was raided early in December and 30,000 gallons of mash were seized. He said his farm was worth $17,000.

The defendants pleaded guilty Tuesday. Sentence was deferred until next Tuesday.

Indictments against Herman Levin, grocer, 4900 Genevieve avenue, and James Bell, 1726A Carr street, were thrown out because of technical error, but another indictment against Levin was returned by a grand jury that made a report to Federal Judge Paris a short while before.

Mrs. E. E. Teschemacher, 4502 Forest Park Blvd., says:

It's easy to get a whiter wash with this safe hard-water soap

"RINSO saves me so much time and work that I use it for my wash and for my other cleaning, too. It's great the way it makes our water soft and sudsy."

"I soak the clothes an hour or two in the safe, wonderful Rinso suds before putting them in the washer. They're so bright and white when they come out that about all I have to do is rinse and hang out. Why, even when I boiled them they never turned out nearly as nice and sweet as now!"

"And when it comes to dishwashing and making the house bright and sparkling, there's nothing like Rinso. I use it for the floors, sinks, tiles, woodwork and everything. You surely get your money's worth in a package of Rinso."

... Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this one, which is from a woman living right around here...

You never saw such lasting suds!

Rinso makes the hardest water soft as rain. Its thick, lasting suds loosen dirt and stains—written without boiling, sterilize, too!

Clothes come from the washer brighter than ever, sweet as clover! More than 32,000 demonstrators of washing machines use Rinso to show whiter clothes. And the makers of 32 leading washers recommend this famous hard-water soap for safety.

You get your full money's worth when you buy Rinso, the granulated soap—it's so compact. Feel how heavy the package is. And it's all water-soluble. No bars, chips, or softeners. For best results follow easy directions on package.

For tub washing, too Rinso is marvelous for tub washing. Sinks clothes whiter than they can be scrubbed. This gentle wash saves the clothes—saves your hands.

Guaranteed by the makers of LUX Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

STEEL STOCKS BROUGHT NEAR CLOSE

Smallest Full Session Since Last July and Approximately One-Tenth of Business Is Done in U. S. Steel and Gen. Motors.

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES
20 Industrial 134.35
40 Common 134.35
100 Common 134.35
Year Ago 134.35
Low 134.35
Total stock sales, 4,750,000 shares.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Heavy buying of United States Steel common, following the announcement that the corporation had raised the price of sheets, plates and bars 1 1/2 cents for first-quarter delivery only, injected life into today's stock market after a long period of comparative dullness. The day's sales barely exceeded 1,400,000 shares, being the smallest of any full session since July 18 last, and approximately one-tenth of the business was done in Steel and General Motors stocks.

The weekly Federal Reserve report on broken loans due after the close of the market, undoubtedly tended to restrict trading. The figures showed a decrease of $31,643,000, bringing the total down to $3,787,324,000. No change was made in the 3 1/2 per cent discount rate. Call money dropped from 4 to 3 1/2 per cent and other monetary accommodations held steady. The Bank of France reduced its rediscount rate today from 4 to 3 1/2 per cent, to bring it more in line with open market rates in the French capital, which has been experiencing a plethora of credit as a result of the return of French capital from abroad.

Steel Closes Higher.

Speculators for the advance were pleased at the return of steel and General Motors to market leadership as the recent sluggishness of those stocks was held responsible for the inability of pools to attract a following in other issues. Wall Street interpreted the fact that steel's increase in commodity prices applied to first quarter delivery only, as an indication that a further stiffening of the market, arousing hopes of increased annual profits in the first half of the year. Steel closed 2 1/2 points higher at 147. Predictions of record-breaking first quarter earnings on General Motors also began to bear fruit, that stock closing 1 1/2 points higher at 133 1/2.

Despite Senator Walsh's effort to bring about a stock exchange of public utility companies, power and light stocks developed several points of strength. Montana Power was run up 5 points to 11 1/2, closing near the top, and Abitibi Power, Brooklyn Edison, Detroit Edison, Electric Power & Light, Federal Light & Traction and Philadelphia Co. showed net jumps of 1 to 3 points. Adams Express, however, fell 1 point to 25 1/2. Some of the strong spots in the industrial section included American Woolen, preferred, Borden, Colby, Crucible Steel, Curtis Aero, Pidelity-Phonics, Insurance, International Harvester, G. R. Kinney, Midland Steel Products, preferred, Republic Steel, Underwood-Elliott, and Warren Bros., all up 2 to 7 points.

Rails were quiet but firm. Southern Railway, Mobile & Ohio certificates added 20 points to a 15-point gain of yesterday by posting a record high at 150.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF $29,000 SHORTAGE

Clyde Squires Caught Here at Union Station, Returns Voluntarily to Memphis.

Clyde Squires, former employee of the Union Compress Co. of Memphis, Tenn., was arrested at Union Station last night at the request of two Memphis detectives, who said he is charged with being $29,000 short in his accounts with that firm. Squires denied the charge and voluntarily returned to Memphis with the officers.

Two weeks ago Squires left Memphis, explaining he was called to St. Louis because of the injury of a brother in an automobile accident. According to the Memphis detectives, Squires has no brother here. They traced him to Detroit and were waiting at the station when he returned here.

A young woman greeted Squires at the station before the detectives did, but she was not held. Squires said she is a relative. He has a wife in Little Rock.

Squires, who is 26 years old and a former St. Louisan, said it was impossible for him to have misappropriated the Memphis firm's funds. He said he was chief clerk and handled checks, but no cash. He said he quit the firm because of ill feeling between himself and another employee. He had $420.97 in his pockets when arrested.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN HOME TO CAMPAIGN FOR $150,000

Effort to Lift Its Debt Announced at Annual Meeting of Church Association.

The opening of a campaign for $150,000 to lift the debt from the Women's Christian Home, Beaumont avenue and Locust street, was announced yesterday at the fifty-ninth annual meeting of the St. Louis Women's Christian Association at the Second Baptist Church, Kingshighway and Washington boulevards.

Reports from five affiliated organizations—the Women's Christian Home, the Catherine Springer Home, the Russell Home, and the Blind Girls' Home—showed each to be in a thriving condition with a bright outlook for 1928. The Blind Girls' Home reported it had installed a hospital costing $22,000. Mrs. Clay Jordan, president of the association, was in charge of the meeting.

For the College Girl's Wardrobe

What the Students Have Been Buying Over the Country for the New School Term.

NEW YORK.

REPORTS from New York
shops and leading stores all over the country show that the following types of costumes are being bought and will be worn by well-dressed young women for the new college term.

Sport clothes and tailored things
naturally form an important part of the school wardrobe, but even the simplest accessories follow closely the prescription of Paris.
Many severely tailored wind-
breakers and sweaters are reported.
We've sketched a sweater of ports mention. It is striped horizontally in contrasting colors or in ombre shades of one color. The skirt with it derives its fullness from circular godets. This type of skirt and the one with the kick pleat in the front are seen most frequently. However, there are many other ways in which smart skirts may be pleated. They may have three wide box pleats across the front, narrow box pleats all the way around, accordion pleating, knife pleating or one or two single or double kick pleats.

The coat dress sketch is a particularly smart, tweed dress—one that is frequently worn away on week ends and one that will be just as smart later on in the term as it is now under a fur coat. It is light weight, small patterned tweed with a leather belt, bone buttons and a pique vest. It is seen most often in beige and brown, but also appears in green, our country-wide reports tell us.

Another popular model is a little jersey dress with a box-pleated skirt, round collar and cuffs of linen and a leather belt. Jersey is an excellent choice for school

clothes, as it is warm and comfortable, reasonably priced and does not crush nor muss. It comes in a great range of colors—browns,
beiges, reds, greens and blues.
The dance frock illustrated is young enough and simple enough for the schoolgirl, beautifully cut and possessed of that subtlety of line which characterizes the best

French models. The stores say that it is chosen in crepe satin as often as in chiffon and georgette
in lovely, pale yellows and yellow greens, whites that have a faint glow of color—flesh, ivory, banana
—and bright red. The correct jewelry for the schoolgirl is a short string of pearls.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Jumper Finds a Friend

If you possess a little wit
Just try to make the most of it.
—Jumper the Hare.

JUMPER the Hare is perfectly aware that he is somewhat slow of wit. He knows full well that he is not as smart in some ways
as some of his neighbors. It is according to him that he can save himself by his wit. He saves himself usually by his long heels. But he has some wit, as most folks do, and he tries to make the most of it.

When Jumper first started to run from Shadow the Weasel and Billy Mink he simply headed straight into the Green Forest, with no real plan. He just meant to keep on running as long as he could. He felt that if he ran long enough and far enough his enemies would become tired of following him. But as he ran, lip-
erty-lip-ty, over the snow,
through the Green Forest, he remembered a friend. Yes, sir, Jumper remembered a friend.

His heart grew a bit lighter. He changed his direction ever so little. "I'll go straight over there,"
said Jumper to himself. "I'll go straight over to where Lightfoot
the Deer is spending the winter.
I think I can get Lightfoot to help me, if it is necessary. Lightfoot and I are old friends. Of what use is it to have friends if you cannot get them to help you when you need them?"

So for some time Jumper ran,
lip-erty-lip, lip-erty-lip, through the Green Forest. Presently he came to a path through the snow.
It was a deep path. It had been made by tramping down the snow
as fast as it fell. This was what Jumper was looking for. That path had been made by Lightfoot the Deer and Mrs. Lightfoot and the two nearly grown children. It was a part of the yard of Lightfoot the Deer.

You didn't know that Lightfoot
lives in a yard? Well, he does.
That is the place he lives in winter, when the snow is deep; it is called a yard. It isn't like any yard that you have ever seen.
There isn't any fence around it, yet it really is a yard. I suppose, for Lightfoot and Mrs. Lightfoot and the young Lightfoots seldom go out of it, and when the snow is very deep can't go out of it. It is merely a lot of paths which cross
and recross and crisscross and twist
and turn among the food trees.
Outside these paths it is so deep that even with his long legs
Lightfoot cannot get about.
But along these paths he can move rapidly.

"Oh," said Lightfoot. "It's you,
is it?"

the path forked. One fork was as good as the other fork, so Jumper turned to the right.

For a long time Jumper wandered this way and Lightfoot the Deer without so much as once getting a glimpse of Lightfoot.
Then quite unexpectedly he came upon the whole family. They were lying down. Yes, sir, they were all lying down. Jumper almost ran into the middle of the family party before he saw them.
He startled Lightfoot the Deer so that Lightfoot leaped to his feet ready to fight an enemy, if there should be one. But when he saw Jumper the hare which had begun to rise on his shoulders dropped back into place.

"Oh," said Lightfoot. "It's you,
is it? What are you doing here?"

"Looking for you," replied Jumper meekly. "You are my friend,
aren't you, Lightfoot?"

"Certainly," replied Lightfoot.
Jumper sighed, thankfully. "I know it," said he.

Of Danish invention is a motor

Made by a new method, water-

THE CHILD'S EYESBy Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.

YOU cannot have this subject brought to your attention too frequently. It is one of extreme importance. It should be approached and discussed from every possible angle. I have discussed it in this column from various points of view. I now wish simply to emphasize in a few thoughts advanced by Guy A. Henry, the efficient director-general of the Eye Conservation Council of America—an organization created to educate parents on this highly important human topic.

I have repeatedly emphasized
the fact that untold suffering
would be avoided if mothers would only take a few simple precautions.

Eye care should begin when the child is born. This is because fully 25 per cent of child-blindness is due to ophthalmia, infection of the eyes of the new baby. Blindness follows in these cases simply for the lack of a drop of silver nitrate solution in each eye. It is preferred mercurochrome, 1 per cent.
Now, it happens that parents are prejudiced against this practice
simply because they think it indicates venereal disease and means a reflection on themselves. This is an entirely mistaken idea.
Many cases of ophthalmia are not
due to venereal disease at all.
The thing that really reflects on the parents is neglect in taking these precautions.

Eyes are not fully developed at birth. They only learn to move and accommodate together between the sixth and eighteenth month. In the early days, therefore, children are particularly liable to acquire a squint, and this should be prevented at all costs.
They should never be made to look at objects held close to the face.
Some mothers make a habit of hanging a rattle or some glittering toy on the crib or over the head of the baby carriage. This is harmful. The moving object fixes the child's attention and tires it out.

The eyes of babies are very sensitive to light. They, therefore,

should be protected from all sources of bright light, reflected or direct. A good practice is to line
the head of the carriage with dead black material. But many mothers do this, and then spoil everything
by providing snowy white robes,
the reflection from which must be very trying. It not actually harmful. Toys and games which need very close observation should be kept until the child is several years older. Picture books should have no small detail that calls for an effort to see it. The letters and pictures on blocks, similarly,
should be large and clear. Too many pictures, both on blocks and in books, are made up of fine lines
and small figures that put too severe a strain on infant accommodation muscles.

As in the nursery, so in the kindergarten, teachers in infant
schools should avoid scrupulously
any kind of instruction which places an unnecessary burden upon little eyes. Weaving, beadwork and the execution of designs with small pieces of colored paper are very interesting and instructive,
but that very quality may make them attract too close an attention and be actually harmful. It surely ought to be possible to provide similar materials on a larger scale. It is to be feared that modern educational methods tend too much to demand close observation, an effort for which Nature has made no provision whatever.

This was shown more particularly in Germany, where, contrary to what might have been expected of so scientific a people, these plain scientific principles were extensively disregarded in the mad rush for Kultur. The result was shown by the fact that before the war visual injury had become so extensive that the casual observer the Germans had become a bespectacled people. The same tendency was becoming apparent
in America before our various state health authorities entered upon a vigorous campaign of education.

THE FIRST LADY OF NEW YORK

SINCE Mrs. Alfred E. Smith has been mistress of the rambling red brick residence provided by the State of New York for its Governor, the term "home" has been more applicable than the official designation "executive mansion."

Mrs. Smith is manager of the mansion. She is conversant with every detail of its upkeep and care,
and she personally directs the large staff of servants as an efficient and capable housewife.

There is an Albany that
"Al runs the State, but Mrs. Smith runs the household." Her interest in her children, three sons and two daughters, is intense.

Such entertaining as is done at the mansion is often in honor of old-time friends of the Governor and his wife. Many of the chairs occupied by the guests show, in the upholstery, evidence of Mrs.

Smith's skill with the needle and as a worker in tapestries.

Codfish en Casserole.

One cup shredded codfish, four tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon paprika, four onions, four potatoes. Freshen the codfish.
Peel onions and set to cook until nearly tender, changing the water once. Pare and slice potatoes, then parboil and drain. When the onions are about cooked add
the potatoes and let cook until both are tender. Put the onions and potatoes into a casserole; add
the butter, paprika, and boiling water to nearly cover the vegetables; sprinkle the fish over the whole, cover and set into the oven until very hot. Serve in the casserole.

ELINOR GLYN TELLS
HOW TO WIN A MAN(Fourth Article)
By Elinor GlynABOUT FORGETTING YOUR-SELF.

MARY, having acquired taste in dresses and a knowledge of what really suits her—having conquered
her jerky movements and all appearance of nervousness, will be relying on the road to acquiring
"It." Her study of beauty of the body has now become a habit, and so she need never consciously think of it when once she goes into company. That is, not any more than a trained dancer thinks of her technique, which is so part of her nature that it has become automatic and leaves her free to use her imagination and revel in inspiration, unhampered by part of her mind being concerned with remembering how to stand on her toes.

It must be thus with Mary in all physical things. Knowledge and intelligence have taught her what is beautiful—all the outward things
as perfect as she can make them
—so now she must begin acquiring the magnetism of mind necessary to demonstrate "It."
She must become complete master of her emotions and, of her thoughts. This sounds horribly difficult, but then, to acquire something by your will which you were not born with, is never an easy task! I am not saying that many will succeed, because the percentage of girls with disciplined minds

is very small—but even if the devoted of "It" get only half way,
they will be so vastly improved
and more interesting, that the effort will have been worth while.
Complete self-confidence is necessary to "It." No nervous person with every other part perfect could project it. So the first mental effort must be to secure self-confidence.

Then Mary must learn to be natural and never "put anything
over," or be affected or unreal.
She can argue thus with herself:
"I need not be nervous because I am not really so interesting to others that they notice me, so I will just be myself—and being so I feel perfectly self-confident and utterly indifferent to what anyone is thinking of me." Force yourself to learn serenity, Mary—otherwise no magnetism can accumulate.

a gentle, thorough laxative should ways be the first treatment given.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of Cal-

hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour-bills gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

der the "Nordic" brand, it comes all ready to cook...just the Fillets (or tenderloins) of the Haddock, without heads, tails, skin or bones.

Costs a trifle more per pound...
certainly...because there is absolutely no waste. Every bit is a good bite. It really saves money.

"Nordic" Haddock, approved by the Good Housekeeping Institute, has no odor. It can be kept in the same place with your milk and butter. And it cooks without smelling up the house.

Order "Nordic" Haddock by the

Tell your dealer you want to try
"Nordic." Don't judge it by imita-

task. I am not saying that many succeed, because the percent-

it will be so vastly improved
and more interesting, that the ef-

Complete self-confidence is nec-

Then Mary must learn to be

She can argue thus with herself,
and need not be nervous because she is not really so interesting to

South Sea Wives Bringing Better Prices Now

Floor Mats and Shell
Necklaces No Longer
Suffice, Fathers Are Demanding White Man
Goods, and Civilization
Is to Blame.

By Jack McLaren.

IN THOSE parts of the South Seas
where marriage is by purchase,
the spread of civilization is causing a deal of trouble to would-be husbands.

At one time the wedding price
asked by a father for his daughter consisted of native articles such as floor mats, sleeping mats, tapa cloths and shell necklaces, all of which a lover could manufacture
for himself.

But nowadays "white man"
goods are demanded—printed cloth,
stick tobacco, tomahawks, mouth organs, hand mirrors and the like
—to obtain the money to buy which the aspiring benedict has to take a job on a plantation or in the crew of a pearling or trepang craft. This causes discontent, for natives have no liking for early rising, hard labor and discipline.
Hence complaints are frequent.

I know a chief, who has decided to remain unmarried and let his line die with him rather than degrade his rank by working like a commoner.

A man who had two wives already told me bitterly that he desired a third, but would have to give up the idea because it would take him at least two years to earn his purchase price, and if he went away for so long his other wives might consider themselves deserted and get their fathers to sell them
to someone else, whereupon he would lose all he had paid for them.

As their work often takes them
hundreds of miles from the villages
of their girls, the young men suffer a good deal of anxiety, wondering if the young sweethearts for whom they are doing all this are

"How about a sleeping mat, some tapa cloth, a pair of boar's tusks and a shell necklace?"
"She's yours," grunts Papa.

increasing, however, for females
are in the minority and the law of supply and demand operates as strictly in the South Seas as elsewhere. As the wages of laborers and crewboys have not risen in proportion, it will be seen that the island lover's knot is a hard one, indeed.

The remark a young plantation native made to me shows that this may be one of the reasons why certain tribes which hitherto have stubbornly resisted the advances of missionaries are beginning to listen to them.

"White man marriage very good," he said darkly. "No buy wife. Get wife for nothing. Very cheap!"

Though they seldom get credit
for it, women are often better are beginning to treat them with respect.

IT is the same when it comes to definite and perhaps dangerous action. In the Solomon Islands there is a trader's wife—a fair-haired American girl—who has more than once stopped a dreadful orgy merely by walking straight into the middle of it.

If a white man had done this he would have been clubbed and separated to death immediately, but because they did not want to displease a white woman the natives
slunk away without protest.

Similarly, in New Guinea, a missionary's wife—a frail old lady—
not only prevented a cannibal raid
which had been planned for weeks
and which her husband and other white men had vainly endeavored to stop, but she exacted from those dreadful savages a promise to give up cannibalism and raiding. That promise was faithfully kept.

Again, it is due to a woman that the most uncivilized of all the island tribes of Torres Strait have been shown the error of their ways.
A man would certainly have had trouble there, but this woman—
originally appointed to the island
as a kind of magistrate—lived there for many years, the only white inhabitant, and received nothing but respect from the natives. Various islanders have told me that so greatly did they admire
her courage in living there alone
that they would do anything for her.

These women had courage, of course, but there must have been something else. Perhaps women are possessed of spiritual powers
that we men have not even guessed at.

Caring for the Aluminum Ware

ALUMINUM ware has become a great favorite with housekeepers on account of its durability, lightness of weight and good appearance. To maintain its pristine beauty, however, demands careful handling.

Never use strong soap, washing powder, ammonia, borax or any alkali on aluminum. When cleaning an aluminum utensil dip the steel wool (grade 60) into a little sweet oil (melted lard can be used as a substitute) and rub inside of dish
in a circular motion and the outside from the top to the bottom.
Then wash in hot soap suds and polish with a dry, soft cloth. This attention will insure shining aluminum.

The metal is easily scratched, so use either a wooden spoon or a clothespin to remove clinging particles of food.

When aluminum becomes dark colored clean with a soft cloth dipped in lemon juice and rinse in warm water. Boiling tomato skins, apple peels, cranberries or rhubarb in the utensil is also effective.
If food burns in the vessel, fill it with cold water and boil half an hour. Sometimes adding an onion will hasten the process.

Tarnish and scorch can be removed with a paste of whiting or any fine scouring powder mixed with kerosene. Never put salted food away in aluminum dishes.

Women's size in shoes is growing bigger; formerly four, it is now much more usually five.

GOOD FORM

By Mrs. Cornelius Beekman

CORRECT FORM.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
In the inclosed invitation
you will notice that the groom's parents, both of whom are living have not been mentioned.
Is it customary or necessary to mention them, or is the inclosed form proper? I am very anxious to do the correct thing.

A READER.
It is not customary to mention
the groom's parents in the invitation to a wedding. The point is that the invitation is sent out by the mother and father of the bride, or the mother of the bride,
or the father of the bride, and therefore their names only appear on the invitation.

The appearance of the invitation that you sent me is excellent and in general the form is correct.
But there are one or two things that I should like to suggest should be changed. In the first place, unless the bride's mother is divorced, the form of her name is incorrect. If she is a widow, she still uses the form of her name
that she used when her husband was living. So that the first line should be (if she is a widow):
Mrs. William George Brown.

Also, in wedding invitations, it is not customary to have the year
mentioned. The year is engraved in the announcement, but not in the invitation.

Do write me again if I can help.

A LOVELY GESTURE.

Dear Mrs. Beekman:
Would you kindly help me to word a letter to an engaged couple?

I cannot afford a present, but would like to send a nice letter.
M. E.

Bless your heart, indeed I will be glad to help you, for you have the spirit I am always enthusiastic about—the wish to send a real gift of spirit if one cannot afford to send a present. As a matter of fact, engagement presents are not so much done now, and most people wait to give the wedding present, and concentrate on that. So your plan to write the letter of felicitation is in excellent taste.

Perhaps this will help:

Dear Mary:
What happy and glorious news!
I am so delighted about the announcement of your engagement
to John Alden, and I do want you to know at once what a wealth of good wishes I am sending you both. Every wish that every good and fine thing may come to both your lives, for you both charmingly deserve it. I am sure that you will both walk very close with happiness always. For you know how precious you and John have been to us always—first you, since you were a little girl of 4 and we wondered who could possibly be wondrous enough to deserve to be your Prince Charming when you grew to "woman's estate."

Then, when John came and we saw how fine and manly he was,
we felt that of all your beaux, he was the one that we would choose to win you. And that you agreed with us and have chosen him, too—
well, it makes us all very delighted and satisfied.

Don't you and John come over to see us soon and let us tell you
of our dear wishes for both of you loved people, and of our congratulations to John? Blessings on you both!

Love from us all,
Devotedly yours,
(Copyright, 1928.)

Women Seeking the Soft Answer

By Mrs. Cornelius Beekman

SEARCH for a soft answer that will turn away war will be concentrated here in a conference of women.

Nine hundred representatives of several million organized women will sit in three sessions a day
from Jan. 15 to 19, trying to frame
the magic phrase.

The group will be headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, veteran suffragist, with Miss Josephine Schlain as general secretary.
Nine national women's organizations are co-operating in the project.

Armed only with notebooks and pencils, the women are preparing to hear speeches by experts on national and international affairs,
who are agreed that world peace
is possible but who have widely divergent views regarding the way to achieve it.

Between speeches, the women
will debate their own points of view in forums. Out of the discussions they hope to evolve certain definite means of achieving peace for submission to the organizations co-operating in the conference.

The organizations are the American Association of the Ameri-

Women, Council of Women for Home Missions, Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions of North Africa, General Federation of Women's Clubs, National League of Jewish Women, National League of Women Veterans, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Young Women's Christian Associations and Women's Tract Union League.

Two "peace plans" will be presented to the conference, the result of a contest among the 400
"readers" who have been following a course of study since last January in preparation for the meeting. The women, on farms and in large cities, singly and in groups, have been reading along the lines of the causes and cures of war and a foreign policy for the United States. They were asked to write 2000 essays and the two considered best are to be read at the conference.

Secrets of glass-making, including the making of a brilliant scar-

Down
from Canada
came tales
of a wonderful beverage

For years and years, visitors to Canada had come back with tales of a wonderful ginger ale. Friends would listen and smack their lips and ask if there wasn't some way to purchase it in this country. And the answer was always "No."

Finally, in 1921 "Canada Dry" was officially brought to the United States. It was soon necessary to establish separate plants in this country to care for the demand.
Today, "Canada Dry" is known the wide world over and its growth in public favor is one of the most inspiring stories of success in the history of American business.
The reason is simply that "Canada Dry" is a real ginger
ale, made from real Jamaica ginger.

"Canada Dry" does not contain capsaicin (red pepper). It leaves no unpleasant after-effect. It has an exquisite flavor . . . a dryness . . . an allure and witchery that gives it distinction. It is so pure that it is served in leading hospitals. Try it with dinner tonight!
You'll never know how good ginger ale can be until you drink "Canada Dry."
